Often Exhausted

When Spring Came On, But Never Since Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. A. Hopkins, 225 East Ragle St., East Boston, Mass., writes: "Years ago I learned what a good medicine Hood's Sarsaparilla is. When spring came on I was thoroughly exhausted and obliged to take my bed. I thought I would rather die than be so tired. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before long was perfectly well. Since then, spring has never come without my having Hood's Sarsaparilla."

might not approve of this motto, Mr. Dunagan had prepared two others: "Co-operation is the base of our success," and "Co-operation, fair competition, justice."

Shield For Organization.

This proposition at once aroused considerable debate. Max Meyer, of Arkansas, referring to the litigation of the federal government against the association, said that he thought the adoption of the seal would be like "haunting a red flag in a bull's face." W. C. Agee thought the first and second mottoes "a bit scary for the tenor," but advised the adoption of the third. After H. A. Forschhammer had strongly advised against the proposition, the matter was referred to the board of directors.

A Charleston delegate proposed that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of urging manufacturers to vote "F. O. B." prices exclusively eliminating quotations on goods "delivered." Strong opposition was immediately shown to this proposition, it being declared that it favored the large jobber to the detriment of the small "cornerfield" jobber. It was finally decided by an overwhelming majority that the matter should not be considered further.

An interesting paper on sales discounts was read by J. W. Lyman, of Louisiana. Short talks were made by Fred Mason, of the Shredded Wheat Company, and President Bell, of the Christian Paper Tobacco Company.

The morning session of the association was strictly executive, not only the newspaper men, but the representatives of manufacturers being excluded. At the conclusion of the meeting President J. H. McLaughlin stated that the session had been "general" and had "covered a wide field," but would not deny that a discussion of the charges of the United States department of justice against the association had occupied most of the time.

Money for Lawyers.

There is apparently good foundation for the report that a large sum of money was raised at this meeting for the purpose of employing counsel to defend the association, contributions ranging from $25 to $250 being given.

It is reported that some of the members entertain the belief that two United States secret service men have been attending the meetings of the association, and it is supposed that this is the reason for the precautions taken to exclude all but members from the executive session.

Thursday afternoon the ladies accompanying the delegates were taken on an automobile tour of the city and given a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The final session of the convention will meet at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, when the resolution committee will report, new officers will be elected and the place for holding the 1912 convention will be selected. At noon the delegates and their lady friends will be taken in special cars to the 'Cue club grounds, where they will be given an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue.

REV. DICKEY TO PREACH AT GRACE CHURCH SUNDAY

Sunday will be a great day at Grace Methodist church.

The campaign now under way to raise $12,000 to pay the entire indebtedness on the new church is moving steadily toward the final goal.

The present church building was planned during the pastorate of Rev. James E. Dickey, now president of Emory college. Dr. Dickey's pastorate was a most delightful and successful one. Those now in charge of the campaign have invited Dr. Dickey to preach Sunday morning, and have the great pleasure of seeing his plans for Grace church reach their final culmination.

It is hoped that the entire indebtedness will be covered by subscriptions by the closing of the week, and that Sunday will be a day of great rejoicing.

Prayer for Governor Harmon.

Columbus, Ohio, May 11.—For the first time in the session of the general assembly this year Governor Harmon was prayed for in the house today. With most of the governor's pet measures seemingly doomed to defeat and the senate practically rebuking the chief executive at every turn, the prayer seemed to have a peculiar significance. It was at length by Rev. Father A. M. Leyden in pronouncing the invocation at the opening of the session.

O'DIVA, QUEEN OF WATER, HAS WONDERFUL ENDURANCE

It has often been remarked by physiologists and ethnologists that nature endows her children with physical attributes in proportion as she finds her gifts in demand. Certain it is that she gives the dwellers of the Arctic and Antarctic regions a vitality to overcome the cold that is not shared by their cousins of more temperate climes. She gives the people who dwell upon the brink of the sea the ability almost to live in a state of submergence that would soon exhaust inlanders. Thus it is with the pearl divers of the southern Pacific archipelagos, of whom O'Diva, the queen, is the feature of the Forsyth theater for the week beginning May 15.

O'Diva possesses qualities of endurance and hardihood that seem impossible to the ordinary mortal whose experience with the sea is limited to a daily dip in midsummer. But she tells many a story of the events of the southern seas that might well tax the credulity were it not for her own remarkable display of prowess as a denizen of the deep.

Among those, one of the most unique tales is that of a Hawaiian woman, who, swept out to sea with her aged husband, lost the frail canoe in the trough of a wave. Together they swam until the man, aged and feeble, felt his strength ebbing. The woman then caught his hands, entangled them in her hair, and supported him for nearly two days—forty hours, the story goes—before she reached shore. Then she found that she had been supporting a corpse. Her husband had been dead for hours, and she had spent her strength in vain.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

It is a new musical comedy minstrel show at the Forsyth this week, with a little drama thrown in for good measure. It is the sort of bill that will drive away dull care, fill in a good two hours of time, and will refresh any tired being. There is only one, just one, Neil O'Brien, and that minstrel star is the feature of the bill. He does some mighty funny things and his experience getting on the feet department is funny enough to drive away dull care. Then there is that singing trio, Weston, Fields and Carroll. One of the boys is a good pianist, and his accompaniment held out a whole lot. Mae Melville is the sort of comedienne who simply reaches over the footlights and makes a friend of you, whether you like it or not, and with the aid of Robert Higgins, presents one of the best comedy acts the theater has ever had.

Schiller Players.

(At the Lyric.)

The Schiller Players have scored a tremendous success in very much in evidence. Three weeks of hard tests have successfully established the individual players and the company of the Bremen foundation. This week William Gillette's great war drama "Secret Service" is the bill. It is a play of the dismal days of the war between the states. It is founded in Richmond, the headquarters of the confederacy, and it deals with the experience of a union secret service agent, who got inside the lines and who was to try to gain a place in the signal service, so that he might at some time get control of the telegraph.

DR. H. S. BRADLEY SPEAKS TONIGHT

Dr. Henry Stiles Bradley will deliver a lecture in the main auditorium of the Central Congregational church at 8:15 o'clock tonight. His subject will be "The Final Fling of Battle Flies."

Dr. Bradley is one of the most widely known ministers that ever graced an Atlanta church and one of the most popular ministers Georgia ever produced. This fact, together with his subject, which is unusually timely, is expected to draw to his lecture a crowd which will tax the capacity of even the commodious auditorium of the church. There will be no admission charged and the hundreds of friends of Dr. Bradley in the city and suburbs are cordially invited to be present.

On next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. Bradley will preach at the system to send out orders that would create confusion and destroy the protection to Richmond. He meets a Richmond girl, who does not know his true character, and who having fallen in love, uses her influence to secure for him the appointment. When the commission comes he refuses, and at the end all is well.

"The Girl and the Judge."

(At the Grand.)

A decided hit has been scored by Miss Annie Rogers in the part of Ikey, son of an old pawnbroker, which she plays in "The Girl and the Judge," being presented this week at the Grand by the Grand Opera House Players. Miss Rogers is the ingenue of the company and has had considerable experience in playing her parts. One whole season she appeared at Lasarillo in James K. Hackett's own production of "Don Caesar's Return." In the role of Ikey, in this week's offering, she exhibits her personality and gives a decidedly delightful portrayal. John Stepping, who plays the part of the old pawnbroker, is responsible for a vast amount of fun, as is Miss Margaret Armstrong, in the character of a middle-class boarding house keeper.

DR. H. S. BRADLEY, Who lectures here tonight.

Central Congregational church, while in the evening he will appear before his old congregation at Trinity church. It is expected that congregations of unusual size will be in attendance on both occasions.

Dr. Bradley expects to remain in the city something over a week as evidenced by the fact that he has accepted an invitation to deliver the graduation address to the senior class of Washington seminary on next Wednesday afternoon. While in the city he will also take part to the senior class of commencement exercises of the Atlanta Theological seminary, of which he is a director.

CITIZENS OF DECATUR

TO AID DONALD FRASER

There will be a mass meeting at the courthouse at Decatur tonight, at 8 o'clock, of those interested in the improvement needed on the Donald Fraser Boys' High school at Decatur. The purpose of the meeting is to perfect plans for the badly-needed enlargement of the institution. The school is of great benefit to Atlanta, Decatur and the vicinity, and the new improvements planned, if they are put into effect, will make it a greater drawing card.

A large crowd is expected at the meeting tonight.

REPORT TODAY ON KIDNAPING BY REBEL LEADER

Gamble, of Providence, R. I., first district; R. E. Bossett, of Rochester, N. Y., second district; A. C. Haden, of Philadelphia, third district; H. M. Staten, of Philadelphia, fourth district; A. A. Green, of Detroit, and A. C. Gayer, of Chicago, fifth district.

Delegates to the Convention of the Federation of Labor—James Holden, of Joseph, Oregon; W. E. Dodge, of Boston; C. S. Bagley, of Los Angeles; A. Owens, of Pittsburgh; B. F. Marston, of Atlanta, and Clinton Goff, of Detroit.

The candidates nominated and to be voted on are the same that have been serving the organization the past year. The selection of the next place of meeting will be made during the morning session Saturday, but that decision has been practically made. Omaha is sure to capture the next annual gathering. In fact, there are serious doubts as to whether the name of any other city will be presented. Omaha boosters have been in evidence since before the convention opened.

Three sessions were held Thursday and during each one there was any amount of debate and at times the debates grew warm, but President Weber conducted the delegates through the mazes of parliamentary usage safely. An hour was given to a report of autonomy by freeing it from New York occupied the greater part of the morning session. The Jersey delegates fought hard and determinedly for freedom from the jurisdiction of the New York unions, but President Weber asserted that the controversy could not be settled in the federation meeting, that the federation had no jurisdiction over the agreement existing between the two sections and that they must settle it among themselves.

Two or three similar cases came up and were disposed of in the same manner.

Don't Want Lobbyists.

A resolution providing for the location of debate in Washington to take effect at the next annual convention before the national congress affecting musicians of the country was reported Saturday by the laws committee and the report brought out long discussion during the afternoon session. The report of the committee was sustained.

A law looking to an arbitration board in each state to settle all differences between musicians and between musicians and employers was reported adversely and after debate the report of the committee was adopted.

Secretary Ourn Miller called the attention of the assembly to a firm of tailors, D. Klein & Bros., of Philadelphia, who were furnishing uniforms to the Grand Opera House Players, and declared that the firm was not a union firm, but that it was one of the most unfair factories in the country. He asserted that the firm sewed in their garments were forgeries and called upon the Garment Workers' and the Typographical Union to prosecute the firm.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Elizabeth Glynn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Glynn, one of Atlanta's oldest inhabitants, died at her residence, 1844 Peachtree street, last night at 7 o'clock. The funeral will be conducted from the residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Virgil Norcross performing the ceremony. Interment at Oakland. Mrs. Glynn was a resident of this city during her childhood and her death at the age of 85 years. She was survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. E. B. Jones and Miss Lucretia Glynn; one grandson, Walter Jones, who is a resident of the city; three brothers, H. L. J. and R. J. Wins, and one sister, Mrs. D. E. Burnette.

Mrs. D. P. Nelson, Jonesboro.

Jonesboro, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Mrs. D. P. Nelson died at her home, here, this afternoon. She was the wife of her husband, three sons and three daughters. D. P. Nelson, Jr., her eldest son, is a member of the Junior class of Emory college. Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Corley, is a resident of Covington. She is also survived by one sister and four brothers—Nelson, Corley, and two others. The funeral services will be held at the residence in Jonesboro Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

TWO YOUNG MEN HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Two young white men, suspected of burglarizing a room in the Scoville hotel, are held at the police station, awaiting trial. They were caught by the police while they were in the act of burglarizing a room in the Scoville hotel. They describe themselves as W. T. Leigh, 23 years old, a switchman from Birmingham, and John J. Layman, also from Birmingham, 23 years old, and a cut glass cutter by trade.

It is claimed that a guest room in the Hotel Scoville was entered some nights ago, and a quantity of wearing apparel and other personal effects were stolen. Goods of this description were secured from the persons of the two men when they were searched. Following this the Bertillon measurements and pictures of the men were taken, and it is thought that the police probably wanted or are known elsewhere.

FIFTEEN LOTS BRING $7,190

Forster & Robson held a successful auction sale of fifteen lots located on Greenwood avenue and Kalb avenue, within one block of the city stockade building yesterday. The lots brought $7,190, the following parties being the successful bidders:

J. C. Glover, lot No. 9, $595; John T. Smith, lot No. 10, $550; W. M. Nichols, lot No. 11, $525; H. W. Cutter, lot No. 12, $500; J. B. Beauchamp, lot No. 13, $550; H. T. men, augmented by several scores of volunteers, who, during the day, enlisted under the banner of the victor, one army and were armed with captured rifles.

Now that the battle of Juarez has been fought and won, even the insurgent leaders are wondering somewhat at the easiness of the capture of the city that appeared almost impregnable.

With a well-drilled force of regulars and a few hundred field guns and rapid-firers, posted at strategic points, the garrison, outfought and outnumbered, surrendered to the force of insurgents that at the most did not number more than 500 or 700 fighting men when the white flag on the central barracks was run up in token of surrender.

An explanation may be found in the expressions of federal prisoners. A number of the wounded expressed sympathy with the insurgent cause, while others, unwounded but disarmed, openly fraternized with the rebels.

"They simply would not fight," epitomized the belief in insurgent ranks.

Early Peace Predicted.

There was an undercurrent of feeling among the federal prisoners tonight that peace would be in sight before another twenty-four hours had passed and that representatives of the insurgent cause would again be arranging for the laying down of arms in Mexico. So far as possible, the federal forces have been kept out of the streets of the city since the ravages of the storm have been removed. The streets are darkened by the fierce sun told the story of the bitterness of the last two days.

All the dead were buried today and the wounded removed to temporary hospitals.

It is difficult to estimate even approximately the number of dead and wounded during the two days' fighting. An Associated Press correspondent today saw 97 federal wounded at the temporary quarters of the Red Cross. He also saw 18 rebels wounded in a shot-riddled store that had been converted into a temporary hospital. He said that 25 or more had been conveyed to the American side of the river.

Funeral of Colonel Tamborel.

From estimates made by federal prisoners and by insurgents it is safe to say that at least 50 were killed during the fighting. Today did honor to the memory of Colonel Tamborel, the federal leader, who was killed during the fighting by shooting his body to the cemetery on the bare hillside and sounding taps over the grave.

With a troop of insurgents cavalry as an escort and followed by a firing squad on foot, the body of the dead federal chief, laid on a stretcher in a dilapidated one-horse carriage, was covered with nothing but a white sheet, was carried to the cemetery. At the head of the procession was a member of Colonel Tamborel's staff, who was given back his rifle for his last ride with his dead chief.

WOUNDED FEDERAL SOLDIERS ARE IN HORRIBLE CONDITION

Juarez, Mexico, May 11.—That the Mexican federal forces were almost entirely without provision for surgical and medical care was shown today when Red Cross surgeons and nurses from El Paso went to the captured city to take charge of the barracks and other temporary field hospitals, where scores of wounded awaited their care.

Hollow skulls, with gas, gangrenous wounds, gazed silently at the Red Cross workers as they set to work with disinfectants and water, to remove the stench that pervaded everything. In one room, stripped and thrown in a heap, were found four dead bodies, one of them a woman.

In another room, shut off from sunlight and fresh air, were half a dozen men, lying on the floor, their faces a semblance of human beings from erysipelas or typhoid fever.

Another typhoid patient, all but naked, lay on the ground outside the door of one of the unventilated rooms. Over the mouth and eyes of the dying wretch hovered a swarm of flies.

Another emaciated man mutely pointed to his leg, broken by a bullet from the Casa Grande, and stretched from the hip to the ankle, had been bound to the fractured limb. The bandages had become soiled since the lumber splint was applied.

Another trooper, with his right shattered by a bullet at Casa Grande, had only his hands around the wound since he had received no medical attention since the Casa Grande fight, and gas had set in.

A number of other wounded men were in such septic condition that they were ordered to be put in a room where they could be kept until they had put on rubber gloves.

Stripped on the floor in one room were five wounded men. One was dying of a shot through the lungs. He had received attention from a woman, who had crouched at the bedside of the unconscious man, fanning the flies from his face and weeping silently.

Two cases of typhoid fever in all were found by the Red Cross corps at this one hospital. One was a ravine And everything was the host of flies.

DIPLOMATS BEGIN MOVEMENT FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGNERS

Mexico City, Mexico, May 11.—A movement for the protection of foreign residents in this capital, in the wake of the revolutionary movement throughout the country, was instituted today by the American representatives of the larger countries.

It is proposed that each colony shall appoint a committee of the colonists to work together to form a program for self-defense in case of need.

The movement was initiated by Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, the American representative and dean of the corps. At his invitation the plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Spain and Belgium met and appointed a committee, headed by Minister Coloman y Colagan of Spain, to place the plan before the minister of foreign relations of Mexico.

Minister de la Barra approved the plan as being possible, and the committee was roughly estimated, 25,000 foreigners in the capital, including 5,000 Americans.

DR. MADRID WILL TAKE CAPITAL

San Antonio, Texas, May 11.—"Unless President Diaz resigns and peace is made at once, General Francisco I. Madero, Jr., my brother, chief of the revolutionary movement and now in Juarez, will be leading a force of 20,000 men through the streets of Mexico City in less than a month. This is no idle talk. It is the military plan which he has made and in which I took part, together with Raul, my other brother, and other advisers."

This statement was made here today by Alfonso Madero, recently a peace emissary.

"The City of Mexico is the objective point," Alfonso Madero said. "My brother has seen as it is definitely determined there shall be no further peace moves, will start south, gathering his soldiers as he goes. It is planned to take Torreón, install a garrison, and then head for Chihuahua. There is no question that the insurgents can take every town as they go. After Chihuahua, it will be a march south, couriers calling in the insurgent commands from around Saltillo, in the mining camps, and elsewhere. Long before he appears before the gates of Mexico City, my brother's army will be augmented to over 10,000 men."

Woman Declared Bankrupt.

Mrs. Alice Loveday, a housekeeper of this city, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the clerk's office yesterday morning. Her liabilities are named as $1,000, with no assets.

THAT POLITICAL OGRE

FAILED TO SHOW UP

The political ogre that was scheduled to make his appearance at the Edgewood Improvement Club of the Ninth ward last night must have thought better of it at the last moment. At all events he was not there. And perhaps it was a good thing. For the citizens of Edgewood were in no mood for uninvited guests and had sharpened their knives in advance of a possible encounter. Had the ogre appeared he would have been left with a bad case of the blues.

There was not a suggestion of politics in the meeting, which was held in the Methodist church and attended by 37 members.

How the story that candidates for office would be nominated gained ground appears a mystery to those present. The meeting went on record as disproving the injection of politics into the club, and several members stated they would quit if it was ever done.

The feature of the meeting was the unanimity with which R. J. Freeman, county commissioner, was elected to the position of president for the year.

The meeting was presided over by President W. H. Davidson and Harlie Branch was elected secretary pro tem. Charles W. Smith, chairman of the executive committee, rendered a report in which he called attention to Mr. Freeman's failure to perform certain duties of the office.

Other members of the ward, a committee of three was appointed to confer with the Georgia Railway and Electric Company in regard to a better service on the Clifton line. The committee is composed of Mr. Branch, chairman; L. J. Burts and Mike Covington.

GRAND COMMANDERY

ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Athens, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—At the concluding session of the annual convocation of the Grand Commandery of Georgia Masons, the place of the meeting for next year was selected—Macon, where the grand lodge of the grand chapter have their regular annual sessions.

The following officers were chosen in every case the selection being in the nature of a promotion of the next officer in line, except the grand prelate and grand wardens.

Right eminent grand commander, George D. Case, of Milledgeville; deputy grand commander, F. Theodore, of Columbus; eminent grand generalissimo, A. G. Miller, of Americus; eminent grand captain general, W. B. Bowe, of Augusta; eminent grand senior warden, Benjamin Frank Hardman, of Athens; eminent grand junior warden, Robert Lee Yully, of Thomasville; eminent grand prelate, Rev. and Sir Troy Beatty, of Athens; eminent grand treasurer, M. A. Wier, of Macon; eminent grand recorder, Charles S. Wood, of Savannah; eminent grand standard bearer, J. W. Murrell, of Atlanta; eminent grand sword bearer, Fred W. Clarke, of Savannah; eminent grand warden, O. H. McDonald, of Valdosta.

The past grand commander, J. G. Greenfield, of Atlanta, expressed his gratification at the success of this grand convocation. The order in the state has prospered since he began his administration and the attendance was larger this time than at any other session, except the semi-centennial at Savannah last year.

After adjournment the local commanders tendered the entire visiting delegation a sumptuous old-fashioned Georgia banquet and most of the attendants remained over tonight to be present at the ceremonial session and the banquet of the Yearab Temple of the Shriner. A special train, including a car of equipment, arrived from Atlanta this afternoon and the night session has been full of interest to those present.

M. H. Ford, Americus.

Americus, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Merrick H. Ford, formerly a merchant and well-known citizen of Americus, died last night near Leesburg, where he had been engaged recently in business. He was 59 years old, and unmarried. The funeral occurred in Americus this afternoon.

BARRELS, CASES AND BOTTLES OF BOOZE IN MACON COURTHOUSE

Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—As the result of six raids made upon saloons within five blocks of the city hall late last night, the courthouse basement is today choked with seizures of whisky. The raids were led by Sheriff Hicks, who confiscated 28 barrels, 30 cases and hundreds of loose bottles, the whole valued at about $3,500.

The six saloon keepers had previously been indicted by the grand jury. The success of the sheriff's raids, made in the heart of the city, is generally looked upon as a "showing up" of the police department. This was the first time the sheriff had undertaken to exercise supervision of the blind-tiger traffic in the municipal limits.

Memorial by Macon Bar.

Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—On Friday, June 2, the Macon Bar Association will hold its memorial services in the superior court room for the purpose of paying tributes to the memories of those members of the local bar who have died in recent years. Resolutions expressing the sentiment of the bar will be read, and eulogies spoken. The following deceased attorneys will be thus remembered: Matt R. Freeman, S. C. Payne, Olin J. Wimberly, Pope Hill, William Brunson and R. S. Storrs. On Friday, June 16, in the city court room, memorial exercises in memory of the late Robert H. Smith, clerk of the city court, will be held.

K. P. Officials.

Cuthbert, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Cuthbert lodge, Knights of Pythias, had an official visit from prominent officials of that order last night. Supreme Representative W. H. Brannen, of Talbotton, and Rev. Graham Forester, as representative of the grand lodge, were the visitors. Recently the local lodge has taken on new life, with a number of accessions, by transfer and card, as well as by application. In addition, new regalia and other equipment has been ordered. John D. Gunn has been elected representative to the grand lodge, which meets in Atlanta on the 18th.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT TO BE URGED BY MILLS B. LANE

Savannah, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The creation of a state banking department, designed after the national banking department, is the plan of Mills B. Lane, president of the Citizens' and Southern Bank, and it is his purpose to bring the matter to the attention of the Georgia Bankers' Association at their annual convention at Tybee next month. This promises to be one of the most important questions to be considered by the bankers.

There are many leading bankers in the state who do not believe the present system is effective. The state banking laws are regarded as favorable enough, but the means of enforcing them are insufficient, it is urged. President Lane declares the supervision of state banks is entirely too lax. He cites a case in Georgia recently where a small national bank was called to account by the national banking department for the way it was conducting its business. This bank was ordered to pay up and liquidate. The bank is now in the process of liquidation, but the same officers are organizing a state bank to carry on the same business. This, Mr. Lane points out, simply goes to show that the state permits methods which the government disapproves of. The result of this sort of operation usually ends in the grief of the offending bank and brings discredit upon the entire banking system of the state, Mr. Lane points out.

A uniform system of dealing with state and national banks would be most desirable, Mr. Lane urges, and it is promised that the matter will receive the serious consideration of the bankers during their convention.

4,000 STUDENTS ENROLLED IN UNIVERSITY AND ITS BRANCHES

Athens, May 11.—(Special.)—The complete attendance record at the University of Georgia for the year 1910-11 shows 7 students in the graduate school, 100 in the bachelor of arts course, 176 in the general science and engineering courses, 78 in the bachelor of sciences in agriculture course, 90 in the short agriculture course, 55 in law, 19 in pharmacy, 207 in summer school. This makes a total of 515 degree course students and 425 short course students, a total of 940 that received instructions at the university campus.

The following figures have been given out by Professor J. S. Stewart relative to the year's attendance at the university and its branch institutions: Degree course students at Athens 515; short course students 425. Total 940.

North Georgia Agricultural College—College classes 96, sub-freshmen 122. Total 218.

School of Technology—College classes 814; short courses 261; apprentice classes 125. Total 900.

Girls' Normal and Industrial School—In college classes 53, in sub-freshman class 18. Total 69.

State Normal School—In normal classes, regular and preparatory, 643. Industrial College for Negroes—in college classes 16, normal 201, preparatory and practice 324. Total 541.

In Medical College—131. This shows 1,065 students in college degree courses, 205 in professional degree courses, 1,175 in normal courses, 688 in short courses and 427 in preparatory courses, making a total of 3,223 students in the university of Georgia and its branches for 1910-11. The eleven district agricultural schools show an attendance of 1,185 for the past year. This makes a grand total of 5,107 students under the state's instruction. It is a splendid tribute of the people to their trust in efficiency of the instruction and training given by the state institutions.

FROM POLITICS UNION SHIES

The Annual Meeting Will Be Held at Fitzgerald June 20.

Union City, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The officials of the Georgia Farmers' union today selected Fitzgerald for their place of meeting, and the date June 20, 21, 22 and 23.

This is about one month earlier than the regular time of the annual state meeting.

The reason for calling this earlier is understood to be the fact that President Cabanis is an elected member of the legislature, and according to the union constitution it is said to be necessary for someone to be selected to take his place prior to the meeting of the legislature.

It is understood that this meets the approval of many members of the organization, although they are loath to give up President Cabanis. The organization does not care to place itself in a position where it is forced to close for becoming too much entangled with politics.

It is thought that the determination of the Farmers' Union to not allow its officers to dip too deep into politics will strengthen the union in many ways.

STRONG PLEAS FOR SEWANEE

Heard by Delegates to Convention of Diocese of Georgia.

Thomasville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The convention of the diocese of Georgia is still in session here tonight, a good deal of important business being carried over from the afternoon session, that meeting being interfered with by the automobile ride enjoyed by the delegates.

The place for holding the next meeting and the election of officers are being discussed by the convention tonight.

The most important feature of the sessions today was the speech of Rev. Stuart Tison, of the University of the South, an appeal for that institution. It was received with great enthusiasm, and at its close what is known as the Nelson plan, suggested by Bishop Nelson, of the Alabama diocese, was unanimously adopted by the convention.

This plan is for the amount of annual deficits to be apportioned among the different dioceses of the south.

Bishop Reese also made a telling speech, calling for all churchmen to rally to the support of this great institution.

Interesting speeches made at the missionary meeting last night showed much mission work done in the diocese within the last year. New churches have been built, and others increased and enlarged.

The women's auxiliary reported $5,348.48 raised for home mission work in the diocese during the year. This includes junior and baby branches. The convention will finish work with tonight's session, and most of the members will leave for home on tomorrow morning's train. Bishop and Mrs. Reese will remain over until next week, the bishop confirming a class here Sunday.

Albemic Club to Meet.
Mercer University, Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The Albemic Club, which is composed of Professors Sellers' chemistry department, will be entertained by Professor and Mrs. F. Sellers Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the college dormitory.

Baptist Assembly Program.
Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—President S. Y. Jameson has arranged an attractive program for the annual Georgia Baptist Assembly, which will meet at Blue Ridge. The program in detail will be announced later. A large attendance is expected this year.

OFFICERS NAMED BY GA. MASONS

Macon Chosen as Next Meeting Place by Delegates at Athens.

Athens, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—At the concluding session of the annual convocation of the grand commandery of Georgia Masons, Macon was chosen as the place of the meeting for next year. The grand lodge and the grand chapter have their regular annual session at Macon.

The following officers were chosen, in every case the selection being in the nature of a promotion of the next officer in line, except the grand prelate and the grand warden.

Right eminent grand commander, George D. Case, of Milledgeville; deputy grand commander, F. Theodore Petri, of Columbus; eminent grand generalissimo, A. G. Miller, of Americus; eminent grand captain general, W. E. Howe, of Augusta; eminent grand senior warden, Benjamin Frank Hardeman, of Athens; eminent grand junior warden, Robert Lee Wylie, of Thomasville; eminent grand prelate, Rev. and Sir Troy Beatty, of Athens; eminent grand treasurer, M. A. Wier, of Macon; eminent grand recorder, Charles S. Wood, of Savannah; eminent grand standard bearer, J. W. Murrell, of Atlanta; eminent grand sword bearer, Fred W. Clarke, of Savannah; eminent grand warden, O. H. McDonald, of Valdosta.

A special train, including a car of equipment, arrived from Atlanta this afternoon and the night session has been full of interest to those present.

THOMASVILLE MAN IS STILL MISSING

Officers Searched All Night for Faulkner Without Finding a Clew.

Thomasville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Nothing further has been heard of E. B. Faulkner, who disappeared so mysteriously from his boarding place here Monday night. The police have been working on every possible clew but can find no trace of him. Since he ate his supper and left his boarding place to look after his team, nobody can be found who has seen or heard of him.

Every possible place has been searched and officers were out all night looking for some possible trace of him.

Faulkner's brother is expected to arrive from Augusta tonight and will join them in search for him.

Captures Negro Burglar.
Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Frank Tucker, a farmer, living on the Thomaston road, upon returning home late last night, was surprised to see a man forcing an entrance into his house through a rear window. He waited until the person, who was a negro named Walter Barnes, had climbed up in the window, and then he rushed forward and grappled with him. Mr. Tucker succeeded in making a prisoner of the burglar, and then, tying the negro's hands together, he marched him to the county jail and delivered him to the sheriff.

MUSCOGEE COMMISSIONERS INSPECT SUMTER ROADS

Over Hundred Miles of Splendid Highways Covered in Three Hours.

Americus, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—A delegation of representative citizens of Columbus and commissioners of Muscogee spent this morning inspecting the splendid highways of Sumter county.

Over a hundred miles were thus covered within three hours. The visitors expressed admiration of the good roads traversed, and examined critically all bridges and processes of road-building.

Five flourishing towns were thus covered upon the tour this morning, evidencing the exceptional facilities for travel afforded by good roads, Construction Engineer Hardaway, G. Gunby Jordan, Arthur Bussey and others prominent in the material development of Muscogee county were included among the visitors.

Harmount Named Inspector.
Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—E. H. Harmount will be the next pure food inspector for the city of Macon. The board of health has decided upon his appointment, which will be confirmed by council next Tuesday. He succeeds Dr. Roland B. Hall, who resigned to become a justice of the peace.

Men's Silken Inner Garments

For the man with the "fastidious failing" these fine garments count mightily.

And today his taste for fineness need not be curtailed, for at MUSE'S the summer display of silk underwear furnishes a picture to tempt the lover of these handsome things.

The prices are not startlingly high---they are, indeed, "quite the other way round."

For instance, see about these: Pure silk athletic underwear, sleeveless or quarter sleeve shirts and knee drawers, white only. $1.50 the garment. They are guaranteed to wear well---and being durable are in truth a very economical purchase.

Deep GratitudePersuaded To Take Cardui

Every woman needs Cardui, sometimes. And when she needs it, she needs it badly. Better keep a bottle handy, so as to have it when YOU need it.

Cardui is a pure, vegetable extract, containing no minerals, or poisonous ingredients, and is harmless to young and old.

For more than fifty years, it has been in constant use, for relieving the weaknesses and ailments of women. During this time, it has been found to relieve headache, backache, sideache, and other symptoms of womanly disorders, which every woman knows.

Mrs. Annie Vaughan, of Raleigh, N. C., says: "I cannot find words to express my deep gratitude for what your wonderful medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, did for me, for I sincerely believe it saved my life. I was sick and worn-out, almost unto death. My sister finally persuaded me to take Cardui. Before I had taken five bottles, I was well and strong."

Are you one of the women suffering from weakness or womanly troubles? Have you tried many medicines, without relief? Don't you think you owe it to yourself to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, because of its successful record?

Cardui is easy to get. It's easy to take. A dose three times a day. It acts gently, safely, surely. Best of all, it does the work.

Try Cardui today. It can't harm you---and its record shows it is almost certain to help you. At all druggists.

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

H G 14

We left the BRIDES OF JUNE very abruptly last Tuesday. The thesis on "MAN, WOMAN and MARRIAGE" terminated suddenly, because the MAY FURNITURE SALE diverted the ADVERTISING.

This is the second section of the subject.

Delicate and intimate things will be discussed.

First topic—BEAUTIFUL BRIDAL UNDERWEAR.

The ONE who writes has examined the GARMENTS in detail.

Looking made lustre leap into listless eyes.

Describing them adequately is a difficulty that will never be completely vanquished.

May as well attempt to sketch HAPPINESS—or SORROW.

Adjectives pop into mind only to be rejected. They seem so trite, so third-rate, so commonplace. A vapid, insipid, tepid vocabulary can never do justice to these ethereal films of cloth and lace. The pen glides into a sad strain as it laments the limitations of language.

The exasperating serenity of the inanimate masses that flutter beneath a maiden's gentlest breath is ineffably strengthening to the sentimental imagination, inspires virile courage, but wreck the faculties that would translate their airy elegance into cold, prosaic words.

The sweetness of contemplation—the rapture, the thrall, the sorcery, the yoke of fine, fair, friendly beauty materialized in dainty thread yearn infinitely for expressions that tally and fit.

The succeeding sensations are the tortures of vanity and the torpor of prostration.

"Arrant nonsense?"

Under Garments at under prices

"For the love of Mike cease the mush."

Hear the scoffer.

The cynic who reads is incredulous because he hasn't SEEN.

Glance at the goods. The request is born of an instinct that craves support.

PRODIGALITIES!

UNDERWEAR that seems to foam into form from vague and misty stuff.

You think it may vanish into nothingness at a touch. Yes, see the GARMENTS and your sneers will stifle in your throat.

INSATIABLE CURIOSITY is branded on the brow of every genuine UNDERWEAR designer. They don't deal with exquisite abstractions. Their interests are within the circumference of the concrete and they become absorbed in their quests.

Observe the results:

NIGHT GOWNS, made of lingerie cloth as soft as apple blossoms and much sheerer; yoke and kimono sleeves of hand-crocheted Austrian bands, combined with daintiest ribbon-run footing; both set off with satin ribbon bows—$15.00.

Another made of same material and at the same price has yoke trimmed at back and front with collar designs of REAL baby IRISH, filmy as gossamer; three-quarter length sleeves with baby IRISH band; shower bouquets of lustrous satin ribbon.

And here's one closely following the style of the above. The main difference being that the baby IRISH is used in combination with pretty Valenciennes lace—$12.00.

GOWNS made of lingerie cloth, Empire style, deep yoke composed of real Cluny, satin ribbon rosettes and shower bouquets—$10.00.

GOWNS made of lingerie cloth; yoke formed of wide band of Swiss embroidery, novel medallion design—work very open. The band lies on the shoulders and another band is attached to it by bows of satin ribbon caught in the deep scalloped edge. The second band falls over the shoulders. There is a margin between the two bands—through which the flesh of the wearer gleams—$10.00.

GOWNS made of lingerie cloth; round neck; deep Empire yoke of Valenciennes lace and hand-embroidery, in bold relief, outlined in scallops of real IRISH lace that gives the effect of frosty shimmer; butterfly sleeves with Van Dyke inlets of Valenciennes lace—$10.00.

The GOWNS at $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50.

If anything, they are more wonderful than the others. The marvel is that so much intricate, delicate and elegant art can be crowded into such a little price.

GOWNS made of lingerie cloth, V-shaped yoke of fine Valenciennes lace and sheer Swiss embroidery; Japanese sleeves of alternate rows of Valenciennes and Swiss inserting.

GOWNS made of fine nainsook; square yoke of hand-embroidered bands and linen lace; three-quarter length sleeves; neck and wrists finished with ribbon-run bias bands; satin ribbon bows.

GOWNS made of nainsook, chemise model, yoke of alternate rows Valenciennes and real baby IRISH; neck trimmed with real baby IRISH; three-quarter length sleeves with ribbon-run beading at wrists.

"What's the price of the four foregoing items?"

You guess $8.00. IT IS $5.00. The ones at $6.00 and $7.50 are just as surprising.

No, we'll not lift all the PETTICOATS before you. The variety is too bewildering.

The general facts must satisfy you.

They are made of closely-woven and firmly-woven nainsook—even, smooth, regular and of just the proper "body" or substance.

You'll be struck with the fresh innovations. They are clever and came in response to the clinging, tight-fitting DRESS vogue of the period.

Let's begin at the top—Draw-strings have been abolished. No more puckerings and bunchiness at the waistline. The old fullness there that wrinkled the dress has been smoothed by the introduction of darts and flat bias bands.

Flounces are the features—the PRETTIEST features—of PETTICOATS. They are gathered now, and have been relieved of all under-ruffles. This creates the freest fluffiness.

Flounces are headed with ribbon-run lace and embroidery beading and all pleats are stitched down, which does away with the old fullness that formerly produced a clumsy restriction about the knees.

Panel styles are in the ascendancy—panels of embroidery combined with tucks and Valenciennes lace.

Prices range from $5.00 to $25.00.

PRINCESS SLIPS and COMBINATION SUITS. Like fleecy clouds. They simply can't be interpreted in the paper.

We'll tell you that the seams from the shoulder to the flounce are followed with bands of lace and embroidery.

That's all we may write. Come see them.

BRIDAL SETS—Gown, Combination and Petticoat, or Gown, Corset Cover, Drawers and Petticoats—$15.00, $18.00, $22.00, up to $35.00. Matchless values.

BRIDAL CORSETS. Rich silk and satin brocades that will not split, stretch or pull at the seams. Trimmed with satin ribbon and silk embroidery—$10.00 to $25.00. You may pay from $15.00 to $50.00 for a CORSET and not fare as well.

TOURISTS START ON TRIP TO SEA

Waynesboro, Louisville and Swainsboro Are Visited by "Boosters."

Statesboro, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—After receiving a fine welcome at the hands of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce the "boosters" of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce left this morning on their trip to the sea. Waynesboro, Louisville and Swainsboro were visited before their arrival in this city. Business men along the route are taking hold of the proposition, and will do their utmost to make a success of the movement.

On Wednesday the Washington Chamber of Commerce entertained the party at luncheon. The organization pledged several delegates to the convention. The tourists were greeted at Augusta by Mr. McWhorter, of The Chronicle, and J. J. Farrell, of the chamber of commerce.

Large delegations were out at Louisville, Waynesboro and Swainsboro to greet the party. These cities will support the movement, and will send delegates to the convention.

The car will leave here tonight for Savannah. On Friday dawn, Brunswick and Waycross will be visited.

Big Grain Crop.

Barnesville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The wheat and oat crop of this section is to be finer than for years, and an extraordinary yield is promised. There is also a large acreage of each, and farmers are highly elated over the grain prospects. There is no question that wonderful development is going on in agricultural lines throughout this part of Georgia. The value and productiveness of lands have practically doubled during the past five years, and the end is not yet.

SMITH PLEASED WITH HIS JOB

So Governor-Elect Says in Answer to Question About Senatorial Contest.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, May 11.—(Special.)—Governor-elect Hoke Smith, of Georgia, was a notable visitor in Washington today, and was entertained by Representative Hardwick at luncheon in the house restaurant, the other guests being the members of the Georgia delegation in the lower house. Senators Bacon and Terrell were invited, and the former was present a few minutes, but left at 2 o'clock to attend the opening of the senate.

Senator Terrell was not present, as he does not walk rapidly yet, and did not want to miss being present to vote for his colleague for the position of president pro tem of the senate.

Asked about the probable nominee of the democratic party in 1912, Mr. Smith said:

"There will be time enough to talk about that."

"Are you committed to Governor Wilson of New Jersey?"

"He would make a strong candidate," replied Governor Smith, "but there are others whose claims must be considered."

"Will you be in the race for the senate from Georgia?" he was next asked.

"I am satisfied with my present job," was his only reply, accompanied by a smile that might have meant anything.

Governor Smith left tonight for New York to attend the meeting of the Peabody board, which is charged with the apportionment of the Peabody fund, amounting to over a million dollars.

Governor Smith called at the white house during the day and paid his respects to the president.

Watson to Speak.

19 SALOONISTS ARE INDICTED

By the Grand Jury Now in Session at Macon.

At Least Seven Witnesses Are Against Every One of Those Indicted—Fully One-Half of Macon's Seventy Saloon Keepers Will Be Indicted.

Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The return of wholesale indictments against the saloon proprietors for violating the prohibition law today characterized the continued investigation by the grand jury into the liquor traffic.

So far the grand jury has found true bills against nineteen, and against each person indicted there is at least seven witnesses.

Those indicted today were: Pat Lyons, Mrs. Margaret P. Flahive, Pat Morse, John Morse, J. A. Randall, S. D. Cassidy, H. W. Williams, J. T. Williams, J. J. Quinn, John Murphy, Edward Mundy and Edward Eichbaum.

It is believed that fully one-half of Macon's seventy saloon proprietors will be indicted, making the most rigid enforcement the prohibition law has yet received here.

Mrs. Flahive, who was indicted today, recently had her saloon license forfeited by the city. She is a wealthy widow, and now operates a grocery store on College avenue. She is charged in the indictment with selling liquor as recently as yesterday.

It will require a special sitting of the superior court to dispose of the liquor cases, as there are about forty pending as the result of previous raids by the sheriff. It is a peculiar fact that nearly all the saloons indicted so far are those up near the police have made futile raids.

NOW FOR WARM SPRINGS.

Commencing Sunday, May 14, A. B. & A. R. R. will sell round trip tickets at $1 to Warm Springs and return. Train leaves Atlanta at 8 a. m., returning leave Warm Springs 5 p. m.

MAP-MAKERS FORCED TO MAKE CHANGES

Many South Georgia Cities Are Misplaced on Some Railroad Maps.

Waycross, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Railroads of Georgia will in future see that their maps are prepared with some degree of correctness, according to information received today by the board of trade. The positions of south Georgia cities have been badly changed and outsiders given an opportunity of kicking on certain statements the various cities make with reference to railroads. The inaccuracy of one map in particular was brought to the board of trade's attention and the correspondence following resulted in a new map that did ample justice to Waycross, as well as to the other important south Georgia points.

METHODIST SOCIETIES TO CONVENE AT ROME

Joint Meeting of Home and Foreign Mission Workers on May 17.

Rome, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—One of the most important of the many conventions scheduled for Rome convenes here Friday evening, and will remain in session until Wednesday, May 17. It is the joint meeting of the Home and Foreign Mission Workers of the North Georgia Conference of the M. E. Church, South. Additional interest is felt in this religious gathering from the fact that it is the first joint convention of the two societies.

Heretofore the two have met at different times and places. More than 400 delegates from all parts of the state will be here.

Among the notable visitors will be Mrs. J. E. Grubbs, of Winchester, Ky.; Mrs. J. W. Perry, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Dr. E. H. Rawlins, educational secretary of the board of missions of the general conference, and the Rev. George G. Lehr, a missionary from China.

Among the notable addresses will be one on "The Temperance Movement the Strongest Ally of the Missionary Forces," by Mrs. T. E. Patterson.

After the rendition of the full program there will be an election of officers, followed by devotional services, then addresses by Mrs. Grubbs, Mrs. L. Johnson and Miss Margaret Cook.

CULVERTS TO BE USED ON BARTOW ROADS

Commissioners Pay $2,500 for Steel Pipe to Take Place of Wooden Bridges.

Cartersville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—As concrete proof of their intention of putting the roads of Bartow county in the very best shape, the county commissioners have received a 50-foot car load of corrugated iron culvert pipe, which will be placed in concrete and made to replace the old wooden bridges and culverts that are now in use along the Bartow county roads.

In sizes varying from 1 foot to about 8 feet in diameter, and costing something like $2,500, the big car load of pipe attracted a large amount of interest.

The people are congratulating the commissioners on their efforts to make good roads for this county, and it is expected that within a short time a rock crusher and a modern road machine and road-building outfit will be purchased, which will result in all the roads of the county being macadamized.

Concert by Glee Club.

Mercer University, Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The fourth annual concert of the Mercer Glee Club, that was given at Wesleyan chapel last night, was quite a success, the crowd that was present being larger than any of previous engagements by any Mercer Glee Club, and the appreciation the audience gave was evidence of the degree of efficiency which the young college students are achieving in this phase of college life.

The program was one of fun and entertainment, bringing forth laughter and applause for the splendid manner in which each part was rendered. The club will appear at Wesleyan next Monday night and at Locust Grove on Friday or Saturday night.

Wendling Sentence Affirmed.

Frankfort, Ky., May 11.—Joseph Wendling, convicted of the murder of 8-year-old Alma Kellner, must spend the remainder of his life in prison, according to a decision today by the Kentucky court of appeals, affirming the life sentence of the lower court.

After a chase which extended from Louisville to New Orleans, then to Texas, finally ending in California, Wendling was arrested, tried and convicted of the murder of the Kellner girl in Louisville, December 8, 1909.

His mutilated body was found in the basement of the church where Wendling was employed as a janitor a short time after Wendling had fled from Louisville.

WOMEN TEACHERS WIN THEIR FIGHT

They Will Get as Much Pay as Men in New York City.

New York, May 11.—A board of education committee here has completed the preparation of a new schedule of teachers' salaries under which the approved proposals for equal pay to men and women instructors. The schedule submitted by the majority of the committee will mean an additional annual expense of over $3,000,000.

School principals are to receive from $2,900 to $3,500 a year, according to their years of service. Grammar school teachers in the lower grades get from $720 to $1,500, the salary being increased gradually each year. Teachers in the upper grades get $800 to $3,200. High school teachers get $800 to $3,200.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY IN POLICE COURT CASE

Frank W. Lawler, of 465 Candler Annex, representing the Felt & Tarrant Mfg. Co., of Chicago, wishes it understood that he was not the F. W. Lawler whose address was given as Fourth National Bank building, and against whom certain charges were made at the police station.

New Concerns at Cuthbert.

Cuthbert, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Cuthbert's mercantile interests, wholesale and retail, are steadily advancing. Recently, the Cuthbert Brokerage Company, with J. B. Smith as manager, embarked into the wholesale grocery business, giving Cuthbert the third wholesale grocery business; the Standard Oil Company has recently obtained from the mayor and council a permit for the erection of storage tanks for the distribution of gasoline. They already have tanks for kerosene. Cuthbert is a contributing factor in the proven satisfactory to them as evidenced by their increased facilities. The company purposes placing these tanks in a once.

West Point Exercises.

West Point, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Professor A. P. Thomas, superintendent of West Point public schools, has announced the program for commencement exercises of the West Point High school. On Sunday morning, May 21, at 11 o'clock, Dr. A. T. Spaulding, of Atlanta, will preach the commencement sermon at the First Baptist church. On Monday evening, May 22, at the same place, the graduating exercises will take place, with the following program:

Miss Bessie Stinson, salutatory; Miss Persia Griggs, class prophecy; Miss Cordelia Micon, class poem; Miss Sue May, Alfred class legacy; Miss Annie May Williams, class giftarian; Miss Bessie Backmon, valedictory. The three young men, Messrs. Gaines Zachery, Winfield Williams and Alex. Dickson, will deliver snort orations. Presentation of diplomas by Rev. Henry D. Phillips, of LaGrange.

Waycross Pump Arrives.

Waycross, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Waycross' pump question has unexpectedly solved itself. The pump has arrived, unharmed, but in time to complete the maker's contract with Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm, also got some of the Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm.

IMPROVEMENT BONDS PROPOSED AT WAYCROSS

$150,000 Issue Will Probably Be Put Before the Voters.

Waycross, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—A bond issue of from $75,000 to $150,000 for permanent improvements in Waycross is being agitated, and may become an issue before the people at a special election in a short while. The present city administration in its improvements is making permanency a feature.

With respect to bonds, Waycross occupies a rather peculiar position, and the necessity for one would have to be clearly demonstrated before the necessary vote would be cast. Sewerage extensions, water main additions, street and sidewalk paving, and the erection and equipment of additional fire stations are items proposed for expenditures from a bond issue.

Mercer Debaters Named.

Mercer University, Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The debaters for the debate which is to be held at Blue Ridge this summer by the two literary societies of Mercer are A. T. Cline of Waleska, and L. T. Hall of Deep Step, for the Phi Delta Theta G. G. Clement of Denver, Col., and H. D. Johnson of Macon, for the Ciceronians.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER ENTERTAINMENT.

An ideal combination of pleasure and profit is offered students at Brenau College Conservatory in the summer season. Teachers of music and oratory especially, and, in fact, all students in general, can spend a delightful vacation at Brenau and at the same time pursue interesting and helpful studies. Brenau has all the pleasures of a mountain resort with easily accessible city conveniences. Brenau is surrounded by pretty scenery. At its altitude, the climate is naturally healthful, cool and pleasant.

In addition to music and oratory the college offers instruction in Mathematics, English, History, Modern Languages and Domestic Sciences, either in class or private lessons.

The Brenau Chautauqua comprises a series of enjoyable entertainments which enliven your vacation.

The pleasure of the summer season at Brenau is not as much as is charged by most summer resorts—the accommodations are better; it would be difficult to select a more pleasing location.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS GATHER AT SAVANNAH

Deliberations of Convention Being Presided Over by T. B. Lewis, of Atlanta.

Savannah, Ga., May 11.—The United Commercial Travelers of Georgia and Florida began their annual convention here this morning. There were addresses of welcome on behalf of the city and the local members of the organization. This afternoon there was an automobile ride for the ladies attending the convention and tonight, at Thundersholt, a banquet was served both to the ladies and gentlemen.

The convention will last through tomorrow. Its deliberations are being presided over by T. B. Lewis, of Atlanta, grand counselor.

Barnesville K. P. Delegates.

Barnesville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The Knights of Pythias of this vicinity will be well represented at the meeting of the grand lodge of Georgia in Atlanta May 17 and 18. The over 100 delegates in Pike and adjoining counties, and quite a number of members of the various lodges will attend the meeting. The following are the regularly elected representatives: W. H. Mitchell, chairman of the committee on credentials; Dr. S. R. Rumble, representative of Barnesville lodge No. 148; W. J. Franklin, Zebulon lodge No. 238; L. W. Strickland, Concord lodge No. 189; C. P. Stephens, Forsyth lodge No. 244; C. P. Stephens, Thomaston lodge No. 248. Besides these, it is likely that many past chancellors will be visitors from this vicinity.

Students Name Officers.

Mercer University, Macon, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The officers for the Ministerial Student Association who were recently elected for next year are: E. L. Baskin, of Milltown, president; H. J. Johnson, of Macon, vice president; and D. A. Howard, of Wrens, secretary and treasurer.

TRADE BOARD FORMED BY CITIZENS OF DALLAS

Committees Are Appointed and Work for Improvement Will Be Taken Up Actively.

Dallas, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—About twenty-two of the business men of Dallas met in the courthouse and organized a chamber of commerce for Dallas. Hon. G. W. Helms was elected president and Homer Turner, cashier of the Commercial Savings Bank, was elected secretary.

Various committees were appointed by the president and resolutions passed calling for a general mass meeting of the citizens for May 9 instant, which was held as scheduled. More than one thousand citizens met and many speeches were made by prominent citizens. Among whom were Judge A. L. Bartlett, Mr. E. Davis, of Decatur, Ga.; Rev. W. C. Crow, Judge B. E. Croker and others.

Exercises at Cuthbert.

Cuthbert, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—The Cuthbert public school will close the school year next week with appropriate exercises. A number of boys and girls have completed the high school course and will receive certificates. Superintendent Hamby and the school enjoyed liberal patronage. The commencement of Andrew Female college immediately follows. The commencement season in Cuthbert is always of interest and attended by large number of visitors.

DON'T SUFFER WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

There is a Positive Cure for You—No matter if it is Ordinary Indigestion, or if it's Cautarrh of the Stomach, Quaker Herb Extract Will Cure You.

Thousands of people in Atlanta or vicinity will tell you how they suffered for years with stomach trouble, indigestion, kidney, bladder or weak and all run-down condition of the system, they had been taking many different kinds of medicines, constantly spending their money, but never received any material benefits until they commenced taking the Quaker Herb Extract, and after taking that God's gift to humanity for a few days, or a week, were all cured completely; not temporarily relieved, but permanently cured, that's what you receive for your money when you buy the Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm.

Hear a report of R. C. Williams, who resides in West End. He suffered for years with stomach and kidney trouble, also had rheumatism for years, has tried dozens of different treatments, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I called on Gray, the Quaker Health Teacher, who is now at Coursey & Munn's (successors to Holt's pharmacy) drug store. He explained how quickly and how permanently the Quaker Remedies would cure me. I procured a treatment of the Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm, also got some of the Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm.

Two and four years of age—who have been covered with sores all over the face and body, and it seemed impossible to get anything to cure them, but four weeks later, I want to say I haven't felt as well in ten years.

I have no rheumatism, and I eat anything I want without the slightest distress in my stomach, and the children's sores are well and their skin is as clear as ever it was; in fact, they are looking brighter and more playful than they ever were, and I want to say that the Quaker Remedies are the best medicine in the world.

Gray, the Quaker Health Teacher, has been telling you of the great number of people who are being cured. Now, if you intend to call on Gray, you had better not delay, for Gray will not be here always. If you don't call on him, order by mail, the remedies will be sent you by express, Quaker Herb Extract, $1.00, or three for $3.50. Oil of Balm, 25c. Cough Syrup, 35c. All Healing Salve, 15c. Quaker Balm, three for 35c. Gray prescribes express on orders of $2.00 or over. Send P. O. or Express Money Order, care Coursey & Munn's drug store, 39 Marietta street.

How many "reform" ideas will it take to make one good president?

The house is too busy to waste time in regret for lost lecture dates.

Consider the time the Mexican warriors killed posing for their pictures.

The "Life of Diaz" is on the market, and the rebels are anxious to take it.

Convention follows convention, and Atlanta has rich room for the biggest of them.

So many who would make "ideal" presidents. One who is the real goods will do.

Wall Street is never critical unless the lambs beat too loud on the way to the slaughter.

However, Diaz is great at making them believe that he doesn't know when he's whipped.

In other lands than Mexico it almost takes a revolution to make office-holders resign.

At Oyster Bay the summer Outlook is that of a cool paper-uniform splashed by an inky sea.

Hobson's war with Japan "within eight months" will soon be barred by the statute of limitations.

The house is brisk enough, but the senate is resolved to sleep it out on its own line if it takes all summer.

That Mexican war will continue as long as the picture-show managers are willing to pay off the soldiers.

If Ballinger thinks he hasn't had sufficient limelight, he has only to press that libel suit against Pinchot.

This time, Spring didn't try to beat the door down with a blizzard-hammer, but lifted a rose-latch and walked in.

The day will come when no unreformed legislature will have the hardihood to attempt the reformation of the people.

Once more the sugar trust is up for investigation. It is the lump of bitterness which is always at the bottom of the cup.

Now and then they call him "Speaker Clark," but it's a jolly slap on the back and "Champ, old boy," when he's off duty.

We are not poking fun at other legislatures, for we'll need charity, perhaps, when we have one of our own—a fair while.

Speeches are necessary to the life of the Congressional Record, but they do not place that publication in the summer novel class.

If Mr. Roosevelt wants to get his party together, what a time he will have running around the country to pick up the fragments.

The other day Uncle Joe Cannon danced an old-time double-shuffle. Though undignified, it demonstrated beyond doubt that there's life in the old man still.

Dr. Owen had best hasten his search for Shakespeare's skull in the bed of the River Wyre, for rumor says Dr. Cook contemplates going abroad next summer.

Woodrow Wilson says "no man should seek the presidential job." But, on the other hand, no man should side-step when it makes a circle-swing for him.

ATLANTA AND COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

Isn't it about time for Atlanta to put a personal note in its interest in commission government?

The new method is no longer provincial. It has become national. Birmingham, third largest city in the south, is flourishing under it. Chattanooga has just adopted it. Other cities in the south, and in every section of the country, are neither adopting some one of its modifications or turning upon the plan itself the microscope of earnest inquiry.

Atlanta cannot afford to catch the last car. If commission government is good for Birmingham, for a hundred other cities, it may be good for Atlanta. As to this, we do not know. We need a basis for reasoning stronger than that furnished by mere surmise, or disjointed data.

We want something definite, concrete, qualified to try-on over the local conditions peculiar to Atlanta, with a view to seeing whether we can get a good fit in a commission suit. If the wonder-tales we hear about rule-by-commission are only partially true, Atlanta may well debate the advisability of gathering a few of the benefits unto herself. This city deserves, and requires, not necessarily the newest, but the best. If commission government is best for Atlanta, the sooner we determine that fact beyond peradventure the better for the city of today and tomorrow.

Several years ago, before the commission form had become epidemic, Asa G. Candler, in a public utterance, declared this city, every city, ought to be run like a business. That is the distinction the advocates of commission government claim for it. Cullpepper Exum, president of Birmingham's new board, says "we operate the city like a big department store, steel corporation or coal mine." He added that already economy approximating $100,000 had been effected, and that an efficiency absolutely new to Birmingham was already in evidence.

The chamber of commerce could do no better than to set on foot a searching investigation for Atlanta.

Sooner or later the nation-wide sentiment for commission government will stir in Atlanta. In the steady march of the contagion, it appears that development is inevitable. When it comes, we want to be armed with definite information and with such details as will enable the issue to be threshed out in time for legal preliminaries before the forthcoming legislature, if sentiment crystallizes that rapidly.

Whatever the final decision may be, the part of wisdom is to have all preliminary red-tape cut away for action. To that end, the chamber of commerce can render a public service by instituting, now, a thoroughgoing investigation.

PUTTING PRINCIPLE ABOVE PERSON.

The following communication relative to The Constitution's campaign for a senatorial primary is self-explanatory:

"Editor, Constitution: I want to congratulate you upon the big, broad, absolutely impersonal stand you have taken for an editorially impartiality. I have followed your editorials from the first, and have yet to find in them a faint suggestion of personal interest in the contest. You are contending for a principle, and not for persons. In this position you will have the commendation of the people of Georgia, once they waken to the fact that the principle of popular government is at stake as it has not been in twenty years. It is refreshing to find a paper in Georgia with courage to lift an issue above men, to speak for all the people and not for one faction, to voice that sentiment which has now become national and which subordinates machine politics and political strategy to the rights of the whole people."

Jefferson T. Englett, "Abolition, Ga., May 11, 1911."

Why not? Has selfish and blind partisanship so long gagged statesmanship in Georgia that advocacy of the rights of the "whole people" should be hailed as a thing unique? Shortly after the death of Senator Clay, nearly six months ago, The Constitution found itself confronted by a plain duty: To demand that the people be given the right to express their choice for the successor to a senatorial term twice as long as that of the elective governor or the elective representative. The principle of popular elections was involved, whether the term was for six or four years. We announced from the start that should the committee call a primary, we should have no candidate, take no sides, print the news and give the people the right to make their choice untrammelled by advocacy or suggestion.

We have not receded an inch from that stand. It is wholly immaterial to us who is chosen senator. It is wholly material to us how the senator be chosen and that the people do it.

That is why, in contention for a principle that goes back to and beyond the Great Charter, we have held that a popular primary involves a popular right greater than any living Georgian or than any man who has lived since Georgia was Georgia.

Public sentiment in Georgia is crystallizing to that conviction. That is why we have been pleading with the committee to turn back, in time, from a course that means only demoralization and stultification!

THE PRISONER'S HEALTH.

Basing its argument upon a case recently transpiring in Texas, The New Bedford (Mass.) Standard pleads that society more keenly recognizes its obligations to preserve the health of the accused or convicted criminal.

The instance in point came up on the appeal of a man imprisoned for murder for release, on the ground that his physical condition was such that further confinement would jeopardize his health, perhaps his life. Denying the application, the court pointed out that almost any prisoner, under the conditions outlined, would suffer loss of vigor by confinement, and that the precedent sought to be established was a dangerous one.

Our contemporary holds that our system of "robbing a man of his health" is wanting from the "civilized and economic standpoint."

Intrinsically, it is. But there is also something in the argument of the court that turned down the specific appeal. A certain amount of physical deterioration is inseparable from the incarceration of a man accustomed to an active life. But it may justly be said that that is part of the penalty he pays for his infraction of the laws of the land. That said, it is evident that society is under obligation to return the prisoner to freedom in as nearly the same physical condition as that he enjoyed before being deprived of liberty; if, indeed, the effort should not be to even better his health.

The obligation is coming to be more and more recognized. Evidence that these facts are today almost universally acted upon is offered in the spectacle of the majority of criminals ending their terms in much better condition than at the outset.

THE W. J. DeRENNE COLLECTION.

A notable book just issued catalogues and describes one of the most unusual private institutions in Georgia or any other state—the library of Wymberley Jones DeRenne, on the Isle of Hope, Chatham county, which contains a collection of publications concerning the state that ranges every phase in Georgia history.

The book-lover pure and simple—the bibliophile who collects omnivorously and yet with taste—is a not uncommon type even in America, youngest of the world's great nations. But the bibliophile who has expended years, a fortune and the fruits of training and experience in collecting books relating to his own state is almost unique in this country. Such is the distinction due Mr. DeRenne.

In his spacious and exquisitely designed library on the Isle of Hope is the most perfect extant collection of data bearing upon Georgia.

The large and handsome catalogue just issued itself covers more than 250 pages of titles and descriptions, together with succinct annotations. Every phase of the state's history, from the days of the wilderness to the present time; each record of human activity—political, economic, legislative, patriotic, agricultural, commercial, industrial, historic, literary—all and singular, is found in the DeRenne collection. The library represents, of course, the incredibly patient research and efforts of a connoisseur of rare learning and deep discernment, joined with a unique form of patriotism that has not spared endless personal expenditures to the end of making the collection complete.

Bookdealers the world over know Mr. DeRenne. Many of those who have access to the great private libraries hold a standing commission to give him first option on original or rare editions of Georgianiana.

It would be impossible to set a money value upon the collection. It stands forever as an almost inexhaustible storehouse of information for students of Georgia history and the genius that has walked with the state since the coming of the first settlers.

If books are, symbolically speaking, the embalmed souls of men, then the DeRenne collection on the Isle of Hope is a symbol of the embalmed soul of this commonwealth, wrought bit by bit with a concentration and loyalty as inspiring as infrequent.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA"

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

Ever' Time Spring Comes Along.

I.
Ever' time Spring comes along
World looks good to me;
I'm fer playin' checkers
Neath the chinyberry tree.

II.
Or, say, a game o' Seven-up,
An' turnin' all the tricks,
Or argyfin' on this great
Ol' country's politics.

When Clubs Are Tramps.

(Being Personal Remarks From Billville.)

"Georgy is now so 'dry,'" said the Billville matron, "that the ol' man'll have to build him a bateau an' order a life-preserver, for the flood is a-risin' higher an' higher, an' it looks like the house'll float off! There's a corn-licker cyclone in the mornin', a rye-storm 'long about dark, an' a beer-deluge 'fore you can turn 'round. The ol' man has 'fined so many clubs that he can't keep track o' the signs an' pass-words, an' he's worse mixed than his mornin' toddy; an' last meetin' day, when he was sleepin' peaceful through the sermon, an' the preacher hollered: 'It's hell, or heaven—which will you take?' he riz up, stupid-like, an' said: 'Make it high-beer!' An' I wuz that shamed, I almost wanted the air to open an' swallow me!"

"One club he b'longs to is called 'The Missionary Club,' but ef ever a missionary should enter its doors, he'd walk so crooked comin' out he'd never find the straight an' narrow road!"

"The women-folks has done quit havin' clubs, fer fear they'd be mistook for the kind the ol' man goes to. It's a strange come-to-pass, but I reckon the people know what they want an' they shore have got it!"

Nuggets by the Wayside.

Don't be ambitious of owning the earth. If you had it all, you couldn't carry it away. Even Rockefeller and Morgan would be lonesome if they didn't permit the other world-children to climb their fences and play on the grass.

The gold at the end of the rainbow is the wild dream which gives the world the healthy exercise of running to Nowhere. And how it does keep the politicians on the go!

The Champion Letter Writer.

"Now that the graduatin' season's comin' on," said the old man, "we git a letter from John every day—purty nigh. Ef he larn't nuthin' else in that college, he shore got ten mile ahead o' the whole class in the letter-writin' line. At first, he writ mose in Greek, with a yard o' two o' Latin throwed in fer good measure; but now it's all plain American, so's the home-folks kin make no mistake. The upshot of it all is—he don't want the money question to be Greek to us. When he wants to give a supper to the boys, Latin is too long an' Greek is too misleading. It's always: 'Dear Dad: Fifty dollars—please.' An' when he wants to draw on me fer a automobile, or a ship, or a ketch him turnin' a somersault in French! No, sirree! He knows more home-dialect then than you could plow out of a ten-acre field on six June days. Whilst I'm a-drinkin' 'simmon beer an' cider, he makes bold to tell me that he's a-drinkin' health an' long life to me in champagne. 'I don't like to put the expense of it on you, ol' man,' he says, 'but the family record must be kept up. So I have the pleasure of drawin' on you once more; but I shan't have to draw ag'in till day after tomorrow.'"

It's a mighty reg'lar business, but I try to be as cheerful as possible, under the circumstance, an' slap a mortgage on another mule, an' let him draw away. He's a-goin' to be a lawyer, an', of course, when his time is out, he'll look into the mule-mortgages an' find so many flaws in 'em he'd jedge'll throw 'em out o' court, an' I'll not go broke. But it does seem hard to be plowin' in dialect whilst he's playin' leapfrog with Latin an' sayin' grace in Greek.

"Here comes the sheriff now, an' I'm a-goin' to let myself down in the well. There's nuthin' like keepin' cool when folks are rearin' 'round, excited!"

Headed for the Blaze.

I.
No hope at all. I tell you, beneath the blazin' sky:
Didn't freeze in winter, but I'll burn up in July;
There'll be mighty few o' sinners left for Satan's final fry:
Lord, help the world o' tribulation!

II.
No hope at all. I tell you, December-
time, or May:
No wonder that we're growlin' as we sight the blazin' day!
Oh, fer a coolin' hurricane to blow the world away—
Lord, help the world o' tribulation!

PYTHIANS COMING IN FULL REGALIA

Twelve Companies of Uniformed Rank Will Attend the Grand Lodge.

Reports which have been received from every section of the state by the entertainment committee having in charge the plans for welcoming the delegates to the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias in convention here May 17 and 18 indicate that the meeting this year will be the most successful in the history of the order.

Past Chancellor George B. Rush, chairman of the committee, and his associates, believe that fully ten or twelve companies of the uniform rank of Pythians will be here to participate in the parade and in the grand prize drill at Piedmont park. Considerable interest is being manifested in this public exercise will be held. Then Governor Brown, Mayor Winn and Grand Praelate James W. Austin will deliver addresses of welcome and these will be responded to by Grand Chancellor B. D. Brantley.

The many companies of uniform ranks are expected to attract considerable attention in the parade as well

SPLENDID TALK
BY CHANCELLOR

Dr. Barrow Makes Address at Theological Seminary Exercises.

Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the University of Georgia, made a strong and most interesting address last night at the Central Congregational church, the occasion being the graduating exercises of the Atlanta Theological seminary.

Taking as his theme the thought, "Believe Something," he held his audience in rapt attention during his entire address, making a wonderful impression.

The graduation exercises at the church began with scripture reading by Dr. A. F. Sherrill. Dr. Barrow then made his address. Following this President E. Lyman Hood, of the seminary, bestowed the diplomas. Professor Howard ended the ceremonies by pronouncing the benediction.

The students who received diplomas were William Sampson Adkins, Scott, Ala.; Jesse Bonkemeyer, Randleman, N. C.; Albert Sydney Gaffney, B.A., '09, Yale university, Prospect, Conn.; Abram Louis Mapes, Baltimore, Md.; Carl Lisle Percy, B.A., '07, Middlebury College, Vermont, Worcester, Mass.; Mabel S. Percy, B.A., '07, Middlebury College, Vermont, Worcester, Mass.; Clay Otis Oakes, Deer Lodge, Tenn.; Ernest Lenwood Thomas, Cedarstown, Va.; Chauncey Foote, Atlanta, Ga.

The drum and bugle corps of the Knights of Khorasan, Additional music will be furnished by bands, and there is every indication that the parade will be one long remembered by Knights of Pythias.

STRONG SMITH PARTISAN
URGES SENATORIAL PRIMARY

Editor Constitution: If there is anything more certain than another, it is that the people desire an opportunity to elect their officers. Georgia has been pointed to as an ideal. Her people have had a voice in the selection of her senators. The democratic party has demanded this right for the people. The platform urges it in no uncertain terms.

I advocated Hoke Smith's candidacy for governor because of the things which he stood for. I made speeches and met in joint debate with the representatives of his opponents in both his races for governor. One of the main issues, as I presented his candidacy to the people, was that the people were entitled to recognition. We denounced one-man control or rule; we prayed a voice in government.

The democratic party is supposed to represent the will of the people. Through the democratic party the citizen is supposed to find expression of his rights.

The democratic executive committee is the source through which demand is made in behalf of the party. Through this medium every expression at the ballot box is directed. This medium should not represent the will or candidacy of any one man; but it should execute platforms and dictates of the democratic party. This committee announces to the people the creed under which the party suggests that the people live and be governed.

The selfishness which prompts any one man to desire that an end be reached which is easiest and most sure to his ambition, should be forced aside by the executive committee. The method which is in keeping with the rights of the whole people should be employed. Certainly the dictate of the party platform should impel the committee.

If I were a member of the committee and favored, as I do, the election of my senator by the people, I certainly would urge that the people be given a chance to do so.

If I were a member of the committee and my party platform favored the election of senators by the people, I certainly would urge that this opportunity be given the people. If I were a member of this committee and not in sympathy with the direction of the platform of the party electing me, I would resign.

The people seldom do wrong when they have an equal or an honest chance to express themselves. In my opinion, the people, as a whole, would never initiate a very bad law, and if they should happen so to do, they would soon be ready to repeal it upon a referendum. The people, as a whole, with an honest chance, would never recall a faithful servant.

I do not mean to say that the Georgia legislature will be manipulated or driven; but it is far to them that they receive an expression at the ballot box from their people as to their choice to fill the office of senator.

One year from now, these same folks who are so quiet about a primary and the people's rights will be calling loudly in behalf of the people. It is not going to do for Governor Smith and his friends to say that in 1911 he was not a candidate for senator and was under no obligation to demand a primary. It is not going to do for the contingent candidates to say we did not then oppose a primary. They have never asked for one.

It is said that the expense incident to holding a primary forbids. I believe that there is yet patriotism enough with the people of Georgia to hold this primary without expense, if need be; I believe that for the good of the party, the county organizations will defray their expenses of a primary.

If the executive committee does not call a primary, Mr. Editor, let the people meet June 15, at their various precincts, during the hours of holding election, and give expression of their choice to their member of the legislature. When this choice shall have been expressed, the member will so vote.

VETERANS' FUND
NOT YET RAISED

Atlanta Are Urged to Come to Aid of the Old Soldiers.

Very little time remains in which to raise money to send the Atlanta confederate veterans to the reunion at Little Rock next week. The subscriptions so far have been insufficient. No personal canvass has been made, but subscriptions have been invited.

The fund should be completed by Thursday or Friday. In case the movement falls flat, many Atlanta veterans will be compelled to miss the reunion, the last gathering of a large number of the old soldiers of the great war. Mayor Winn and President Paxson, of the chamber of commerce, are in charge of the fund collection, and subscriptions should be sent to them. The veteran camps that are making the appeal for aid are: the Georgia, Tige Anderson, Longstreet and Stonewall Jackson.

Mr. MacNeill Talks.
"His commercialism and the sentiment of her citizens toward the old veterans of the southland changed so as to cause them to treat with disrespect the old heroes of the days of long ago," asks Malcolm MacNeill.

"Macon, a typical southern city, sends 250 old soldiers to the reunion at Little Rock next week. A brass band thirty-five strong, and a quartet fifty strong, from the chamber of commerce, besides fully 100 citizens as an escort, on a special train leaving Macon on Monday next, furnishing commissary department on board to take care of the veterans and others during the entire trip."

An appeal from Hon. Mayor Courtland S. Winn, Fredrick J. Paxson, president, and Walter G. Cooper, secretary of the chamber of commerce, has resulted very unsatisfactory. It is not sufficient amount to send even fifty veterans to Little Rock, without any frills whatever. In fact, unless now and Saturday noon, fifty will not be able to go with the funds now on hand, and queer to say, the largest amounts contributed were from one United States officer and two northern men.

"I was secretary of the Chicago and Southern States' Association in 1895, and although a confederate veteran of Forest cavalry, with the assistance of prominent citizens of Chicago, within sixty days raised over $50,000 to bring south the noted First regiment, Illinois National Guards of Illinois, who had the courage to fire the military salute over a confederate dead in Oakland cemetery in Chicago, besides the governor, the mayor and other guests. It required five trains. We landed in Atlanta and spent two days at the exposition, went to Savannah, Charleston, Augusta, Chattanooga and Nashville, and such hospitality never was shown before to any of the northern states. We have been south since the war, and it was so much appreciated that when they returned, at my suggestion they took the matter of establishing a southern states' exposition, and invited delegates from all the southern states, for the purpose of discussing the proposition of establishing in Chicago a free exhibit of the products of the southern states, and everything went off beautifully, and the southern states' exposition was organized. The Chicago citizens agreeing to furnish all the means necessary to establish the exposition and exhibit all the products from the southern states which they might send, free of any expense whatever to the southland, after reaching Chicago. Therefore, I do not hesitate to say that if the request of the chamber of commerce of Atlanta, and Mayor Courtland S. Winn had been made to Chicago for sufficient funds to send from 300 to 500 veterans to Little Rock, the money would have been subscribed in less than ten days."

"Now it is up to Atlanta to neglect and mortify her old veterans, or to do her duty by sending all who wish to go to Little Rock free of any expense whatsoever."

Veterans Meet Tonight.

The commanders of Camp Wheeler, Longstreet, Tige Anderson and Stonewall Jackson desire all their members to be present at a mass meeting to be held at the court house at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Sully Must Pay.
New York, May 11.—Mrs. Emma Sully, wife of Daniel J. Sully, once called the "cotton king," lost the suit today brought against her by Colonel Peter H. Carr, of Taunton, Mass., to recover $10,000. A sealed verdict opened today found for Carr $10,000. The full amount with interest from 1904, making $35,536. Mrs. Sully maintained that the money was not Carr's but had been given her to aid her husband when he was in difficulties.

JUDGE HAMMOND
WILL GET $5,000

Act Increasing Pay of Superior Court Judges Constitutional.

Whether it wishes to do so or not, the county of Richmond must pay to Judge Hammond, of the Augusta circuit, the increase in his salary from $3,000 to $5,000 per year.

In a lengthy decision, written by Judge Lumpkin and handed down Thursday morning, the supreme court sustains the validity of the constitutional amendment passed by the legislature at the last session and validated at the polls, providing that counties containing cities of more than 34,000 population should increase the salaries of their superior court judges to $5,000 per year, the increase to be paid out of the county treasury in which such city is located.

Prior to the adoption of this constitutional amendment the legislature had passed an act to the same effect which did not carry an amendment to the constitution.

Salary Refused Him.
Under the original act Judge Hammond demanded his increased salary from the treasurer of Richmond county, and was refused. He carried his case into court and won it, but was reversed by the supreme court on the ground that there was no provision in the constitution authorizing the county treasurer to pay any salary in addition to that already authorized by the constitution.

Whereupon the legislature at the last session passed an amendment, and, after it was indorsed at the polls in the last election, Judge Hammond again demanded his salary of the treasurer, and was again refused. Again he sought to mandamus the treasurer in the courts, but the second time he lost. He again appealed to the supreme court, and this time he wins.

In explanation of its position, the court says: "Whereas the legislature undertook to make an increase in the salaries of judges in certain circuits, and to have the increase paid by the counties therein containing cities of not less than certain population, and such acts were declared by this court to be invalid because violative of a provision of the constitution of the state, an amendment to the constitution thereafter duly made, which changed the constitutional provision on that subject so as to fix the rule in regard to such salaries for the future, and which ratified the legislative acts as to their respective dates, cannot be declared void at the instance of one of the counties concerned, or its treasurer, on the ground that it sought to evade the former decision, invaded the province of the judiciary and deprived the county of its property without due process of law."

In no case affected by the constitutional amendment, except Richmond, has any effort been made to avoid paying the increased salary provided for the superior court judges.

GRAND JURY SUMMONS
LOCKER CLUB OFFICIALS

Officials of the various clubs of the city have been summoned to appear before the grand jury Friday morning in readiness for the nature of their respective organizations.

The jury expects to enter into an exhaustive examination of all the locker clubs in order to determine which are genuine social clubs and which are bogus ones.

The investigation was ordered by Judge W. D. Ellis in his charge to the jury; and he was urgent in stating to

CITY NEWS

Fine for W. R. Phillips.—W. R. Phillips, a real estate dealer of 61 Moreland avenue, was fined $10 and costs in police court yesterday afternoon for accosting Nettie Lewis, the young girl rescued Wednesday as a white slave, and asking her to go to a restaurant or show with him.

Woman in Freed.—The case against Mrs. May Smith, a pretty young woman of 22 years, was dismissed by Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon. She had been charged with luring and loitering, but the trouble arose over her alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Beulah Smith, who lives on South Pryor street.

Reward for Murderer.—The Colored Fourth Ward Progressive League met at the Wheat Street Baptist church in its regular weekly meeting last night and succeeded in raising funds to offer a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who assassinated Rossie L. Rivers Sunday night, May 7. Business matters were also taken up at the meeting.

Attacks a Witness.—Attacking the man who had testified against her as they were being led back to the detention room in the police station yesterday afternoon, Bertha Lewis was immediately brought back before the recorder and given thirty days without a fine. The woman's attack was sudden and vicious, presumably because she had been convicted on the man's evidence in the first case.

The Life of Job.—Two studies from the life of Job, that most pathetic of all the figures in the Old Testament, will form the topic of two sermons at the Central Presbyterian church next Sunday, by the pastor, Dr. Dunbar Ogden. "The Turning of Job's Captivity" will be the subject at the morning hour, 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. Ogden will preach on "Job's New Theology."

Tampering With Witnesses.—Intimations that the chief witness in a blind tiger trial before Judge Broyles yesterday had been tampered with by the defense, caused some sharp questioning of the parties concerned by the recorder, and an admonition to a well-known lawyer that the profession should be above reproach. The case was dropped as an explanation was

HOTEL IS NEEDED, SAY STAGE FOLK

Actors Find It Difficult to Secure Adequate Accommodations.

No one class of persons, with the possible exception of the traveling salesmen, have displayed more interest in the building of a new one million dollar hotel than members of the theatrical profession, both actors and officials of big circuits.

The average actor gets a good salary and demands the best of accommodations. He spends a large part of his time on railroad trains, and when he gets to a place the size of Atlanta expense is no object so long as he gets what he wants. As a class, actors spend more money with hotels than other regular travelers. When they find they have to put up with second-class accommodations they get sore and give Atlanta a black eye. And naturally, they are tired and worn out when they leave the train and they want to go to some place where it is cool or warm, according to the season of the year; where they can have baths attached to their rooms, and where they can sleep without being disturbed until late in the day, on account of the late hours they keep.

Time and time again large companies have come to the city and their members have been compelled to scatter to all parts of the city to find accommodations. Frequently they had to put up with inferior places which would consider none too good for a village.

Hugh Cardozo, of the Forsyth, is in position to have thorough knowledge of this phase of the situation. "It would surprise you," he said, "to learn the salaries that are made by actors. Many of them make $200 and $300 a week, and some far more than that. Living more or less nomadic lives, they know practically nothing of the meaning of home, and are willing to spend and spend liberally to get what they want. Eating and sleeping, sleeping and eating, here one day and there tomorrow, life is not the round of gaiety one would imagine. The two items—eating and sleeping—mean much to them; they must have the best of both, and the best places to sleep. Goodness knows, they deserve what other persons making far less money than they regard as a matter of course. But they don't always get it in Atlanta. Time and again I have had to scurry around and hunt them rooms when they found the hotels filled. It was not always an easy task, and frequently they left Atlanta with a well-developed grouch, expressed in the opinion that they would never return until there were more hotels.

"Of course, an actor must come here whether he wants to or not, but it is different with other classes of people. I know for a fact that this city is losing a lot of Sunday business from traveling men who formerly came here for a day of rest. That was before Atlanta had so outgrown her hotel accommodations. Now many of these men are putting in the day at Chattanooga, Birmingham, or Mobile, all of which are better equipped according to size than Atlanta. There is no doubt about Atlanta needing a hotel and needing it badly."

Harrison Bleckley, the well-known architect, is heartily in favor of the new hotel. "Not only can Atlanta support one new hotel, but two or three," he said. "We don't realize how this city is growing and what supplies today is totally inadequate tomorrow. By the time the new hotel is completed the city will have grown enormously."

MOTHER DISAPPEARS AND FATHER IS ILL

Three Pretty Campbell Children Are Sent to Home for Friendless.

Deserted by their mother, the three pretty little children of Robert C. Campbell, painter of 188 Powder street, were yesterday temporarily committed to the Home for the Friendless, until the health of their father should permit his again caring for them.

Robert Campbell is now suffering from tuberculosis, but has made a brave fight to support his family. He works when able, but the disappearance of his wife handicapped him to such an extent, and left the children without protection during the day, that he was forced to send them to the home.

Mrs. Campbell states that she will return when her husband is again a well man. The children whom she has for years been Lily, aged 12, Robert, 5, and Ada, 3 years of age. Probation Officer Gier had charge of the case.

PASSENGERS MUST GET OFF AT RIGHT STATION

Can't Hold Railroads Responsible for Calling Stations Right.

Why should a railroad require porters and flagmen to call out stops along the line if it doesn't get the passenger anything? That's a question which Mrs. Georgia C. Phillips, of Brunswick, is probably asking now.

In the case of Mrs. Phillips against the Southern railroad the supreme court said Thursday that it makes no difference whether or not the station of a passenger is distinctly called or not, it is the passenger's own business to be on the lookout and get off when the train arrives at the passenger's destination.

Mrs. Phillips wished to get off at Jesup. When the flagman called Odeas Mrs. Phillips understood him to say Jesup, and off she got. She found herself at a tank stop, 5 miles south of her destination. She sued the road, and was given $250 damages for the trouble and inconvenience she experienced. The road appealed and the supreme court reversed the lower court.

BIG DOGS WANT LIVE DOGS FOR INITIATION TONIGHT

The Exalted Order of Big Dogs, a social feature of the American Federation of Musicians, last night inducted into the mysteries of that secret organization eighty new members, and tonight more than one hundred and fifty of the Big Dogs will attend the annual banquet, none but members being present at the spread.

The Big Dogs membership is confined solely to members of the American Federation of Musicians. It was organized at the annual session of the federation held in Indianapolis a few years ago with a membership of ten. It remained for Atlanta to present the largest class for membership.

TIRED OF LIVING ALONE HER REASON FOR MARRYING

After hanging bashfully in the doorway of the clerk's office for about half an hour or more yesterday, an old negro, thin and wrinkled, with "speckles" on her nose and an ineffable smile upon her lips, attracted the attention of clerk Arnold Broyles. "What can I do for you?" asked the clerk kindly.

The old darky came shyly forward, raised herself on tiptoe and whispered confidentially: "Please boss, tell me what yer gits the marriage license papers?"

"Right in yonder," said the clerk, directing her to the ordinary's office. "Look here, aunty," queried an inquisitive bystander, bent on fun, "aren't you old enough to know better than this?"

"Sho' ter goodness I is, honey," responded old Aunt Nancy; "but I've tired ol' livin' by myself, I is."

"How many times have you been married already?" was the next question.

"O, I've been married once, an' I lived with my ole man for twenty-seven year. He's daid now—been daid eleven year, an' I've so tired ol' havin' nobody ter tek my part I've gwine ter marry ag'in."

"Well, how old are you, and how old is the new groom-to-be?" asked her questioner.

"Tee-hee!" giggled Aunt Nancy, over- come by the delighted embarrassment of "I've over 50, and he's over 60, I guess."

"Well, aren't you afraid he'll die, too?" teased her inquisitor.

"Sho' ter goodness he gwine ter die, honey; we're all got ter die. Life is mighty uncertain. But I'll marry him fust, and forwirth she relinquished her $1.75, which she extracted from a secret repository, and, with a broad grin, watched the ordinary as he wrote "Louis Hightower, colored, to Nancy Ware."

COMPOSER OF NATOMA IN ATLANTA ON MAY 25

"The most popular, and therefore the most successful, musician in America is Victor Herbert." If this sweeping testimony to the worth of the popular and accomplished musician, who brings his band to Atlanta on May 25, when he will be featured in an imposing concert by a brilliant array of vocal artists, was justified five years ago, when the conservative New York Independent sent forth the message to its great army of readers, it is difficult to find language in which to describe Mr. Herbert's present standing before the American public.

After having attained an unchallenged pre-eminence in the field of light opera, and won an international fame for his mastery of orchestration, Mr. Herbert is today smothered with honors brought forth by the enthusiastic reception accorded the first American grand opera to receive recognition here and abroad. This opera, under the name of "Natomá," was produced in Philadelphia the latter part of February, and was instantly acclaimed the work of the master musician of America.

Mr. Herbert will be at the Auditorium-Armory Thursday, May 25, in matinee and night concerts, under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival Association. Popular prices will prevail. Colonel W. L. Peel and the directors hope to make it the big musical event of the late spring. Profits will go to the organ fund.

ARTIST'S ASHES TO REST BETWEEN PAWS OF DOG

London, May 11.—In accordance with a wish revealed in his will, which was examined today, the body of "Lafayette," the vaudeville performer who lost his life in the fire that destroyed the Empire Music hall at Edinburgh Tuesday night, will be cremated in the ashes placed between the paws of his trained dog, "Beauty," the body of which rests in a pretentious tomb in Pierre Hill cemetery, at Edinburgh.

$5,000 FOR WORK ON WATER SURVEY

Chamber Will Urge Legislature to Accept the Government's Offer.

To give to the world accurate information as to the water power and resources of Georgia, a movement has just been set on foot by the water resources committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and the matter will probably be brought before the next legislature.

An offer has recently been made by the director of the United States geological survey by which Georgia will receive $5,000 per year to be expended in the charting of streams, the measurements of waterfalls and the gathering of all data concerning the water resources of the state. This $5,000 is contingent, however, upon the state's donating a like amount for the same purpose, and it is the intention of the chamber committee to have that organization use its influence in having the legislature make this appropriation.

The committee went thoroughly into the matter at its last meeting, and adopted resolutions earnestly requesting the directors of the chamber to take the matter up at once, give it their support and solicit the support of other commercial bodies throughout the state. The committee is composed of the following gentlemen: C. E. Caverly, chairman; H. H. W. D. Beale, Hill R. Huffman, W. S. Duncan, John Aldrich, E. A. Hartsock and L. E. Rogers.

Water Resources Resolution. Following are the resolutions in full as passed by the committee: "Resolved by the committee on water resources that we recommend to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce the adoption of the following resolutions, that, whereas, the water resources of the state, including its abundant water power, is a very valuable asset, the proper utilization of which means much to the state; and whereas, the stream gauging and water power investigations of the United States geological survey have been instrumental in bringing about large water power developments within the state, and are necessary in order to insure a number of developments now pending; and

"Whereas, many of the states have formed co-operative agreements with the United States geological survey by which both parties contribute equal sums of money for the work in order to hasten the completion of the investigation within those states; and

"Whereas, the director of the United States geological survey, through the chief hydrographer of the water resources branch, has extended to the state geologist of Georgia an offer of $5,000 per annum, provided another $5,000 be contributed by the state survey, making $10,000 per annum to be expended in the state of Georgia for stream gauging and water power investigations to be conducted under the direction of the director of the United States geological survey by methods acceptable to the state geologist; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the board of directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, that we respectfully urge the general assembly of Georgia to make a special appropriation of $5,000 to the state geological survey for the purpose above mentioned.

"Resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the other leading commercial bodies of the state with the request that they take similar action and use their influence with members of the legislature to make this appropriation.

"Resolved, further, that the legislative committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce be instructed to confer with the members of the legislature from this county and use its best influence to secure this appropriation."

FEDERATION OF TRADES INDORSES NEW TAX ACT

Assistance of Organization Is Pledged to Councilman McClelland.

Indorsing Councilman McClelland's ordinance to regulate taxation, the Atlanta Federation of Trades has passed a resolution commending the movement, giving definite reasons why they think the city charter should be amended, and pledging their support to the ordinance which will bring the relief sought.

The resolution, which was passed Wednesday, is as follows: "Whereas there has recently been introduced in a resolution which has for its purpose the passing of a charter amendment giving to the city of Atlanta the charter power to adopt by ordinance appropriate measures which will give full power to the constituted authorities to revise the tax returns of both realty and personalty, and to provide adequate means for appeals from the decisions of the tax assessors, therefore be it

"Resolved, first, that we, in meeting assembled, unqualifiedly indorse the said resolution, and hereby pledge our unequalled support to Councilman McClelland in the adoption of the resolution now pending before council, and an ordinance that will bring the relief sought.

"Resolved, second, that we believe that the method of assessing realty and personalty is unequal, and that a radical change is necessary. That such method as will make equality in the returns between the rich and poor be adopted. We believe that small home owners are paying an unjust proportion of tax, and that a large percentage of central realty is escaping just taxation, thereby putting the burden on the small home owners. We believe that many corporations, firms and individuals are not paying more than 10 to 15 per cent on their personality, while the small owners of personality are paying from 60 to 80 per cent. We earnestly desire the co-operation of all bodies that feel interested in condemning a system that is making the rich richer and the poor poorer, and we hereby pledge our support to those who will help end this evil. Our condemnation to those who seek to perpetuate a tyrannical and arbitrary assessment of taxes that are unjust and unequal."

The property is ideally located for summer homes or country bungalows.

The neighborhood is not a thing of speculation, but one of settled character.

The frontage to be auctioned off is the prettiest stretch of Pace's Ferry Road on the market, with superb views north into the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains.

The building sites are all 400 and 500 feet back from the street, on lots that run from 700 to 1,500 feet in depth—a condition in itself unique in north Atlanta suburban development.

Finally, it presents an opportunity for investment that no business man can afford to overlook, since the movement along Pace's Ferry Road is no more than begun.

PACE'S FERRY FRONTAGE AUCTION SALE MAY 20

The biggest country home proposition ever put on the Atlanta real estate market.

Twelve magnificent sites consisting of the entire Pace's Ferry frontage of the Tuxedo Park Co.

This property adjoins the Maddox home and runs 2150 feet west on Pace's Ferry Road. Immediately in front of it are the beautiful homes of Morris Brandon and Henry S. Jackson; also in front of it is the site selected for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austell Thornton to be built at once.

Further down the road Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Gately have practically begun their splendid country residence, and on this road Judge W. B. Lamar is building an Italian Villa that will rival any home in the vicinity of Atlanta.

The character of the community is established for all time.

It is no experiment of the Tuxedo Park Co.

There is no need of exploitation here to boost a neighborhood.

The improvements along the road frontage already under way and those projected will make Pace's Ferry Road within another year a veritable picture highway—a boulevard unrivaled in the South.

If you have not visited the property secure a plat today from the offices of S. B. Turman & Company, Chas. H. Black or DeFoor & Lyle, and see the property before the sale of May 20.

There will be automobiles enough for all parked at the end of the Buckhead line and no one will be overlooked.

SOCIETY

May Festival.

A May day festival will take place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Turman, near Lakewood, on Saturday, the 13th, 4 to 10 o'clock. Everything will be done to make the guests have a good time. A stately May pole with its flowing ribbons of all colors, will be a great attraction for the girls and boys. Then, there will be two wagons loaded with hay for all to have a jolly ride, and two gentle little ponies for those who prefer them; also a goat wagon for the wee tots.

Refreshments will be in order. Ice cream, cake and lemonade by the tubful. Everyone is invited to enjoy the entertainment in the fresh, country air, redolent of roses and honeysuckle.

An admission of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be charged; the proceeds going towards the new fund of the Church of the Holy Comforter.

Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parlors of the association. The business meeting will be full of interest to every member and the president, Mrs. W. F. Clark, urges that every member be present. Reports will be heard from the chairmen of the different circles, Mrs. J. B. Richards, Mrs. E. R. Barrow, Mrs. S. L. Norris, Mrs. G. V. Savatz, Mrs. W. F. Trenary, Mrs. H. A. Morris, Mrs. T. E. Hicks, Mrs. W. M. Nichols, Miss Esther Barnes and Mrs. W. H. McClain.

Miss Esther Barnes has arranged the following program: Piano solo, Miss Lynn Johnson; song, Mrs. Homer Johnson; piano solo, Miss Alice May Hanes; recitations, Miss Carmen Warner; soprano solo, Miss Ruby Gaffney. Refreshments will be served during the social hour.

An Attractive Visitor.

A very attractive young visitor to the city is Miss Anne Booth McKinney, of Knoxville, the guest of Mrs. W. Frank Smith, Jr.

A number of Atlantans, some of whom have not yet met Miss McKinney, will remember her mother, Mrs. Samuel McKinney, who was Miss Anne Booth, of Mississippi, and is the author of "Mistress Joy," a member of the Tennessee Press Club, and third vice president of the woman's board of the Appalachian Exposition.

A number of entertainments are planned in compliment to Miss McKinney, including a box party at the Grand Thursday afternoon, to be given by Mrs. Douglas Lawton, formerly Miss Donna Lewis, of Knoxville, at which there will be present, among others, Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. W. Frank Smith, Mrs. John Lamar Meek, Mrs. W. B. Ragdale and Miss Clifford West.

Browne-Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Browne, of Easton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carrie, to Rev. Hugh S. Wallace, of Sweetwater, Tenn. The marriage will take place June 21.

Torbert-Nail.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright Torbert, of Madison, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Mr. Oscar Nail, of Jesup, Ga., the marriage to take place in June at the First Baptist church in Madison.

Graduating Recital.

Miss Shattuck Mitchell presents Miss Mildred McConnell in graduating recital, interpretative reading Sophocles' Antigone, Friday afternoon, May 12, at 8 o'clock, Washington Seminary.

To Miss Randall.

Mrs. Le Roy Wynne will entertain at bridge next Wednesday morning, at her home on the Boulevard, in compliment to Miss Ernestine Randall, a bride-elect.

Automobile Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crouch are planning a most delightful trip for June. They expect to go to Poland Springs, Me., making the trip in their touring car, and taking with them their niece, Miss Alice Crouch, of Cartersville. From Poland Springs they will motor through the White mountains.

Commencement Exercises.

The fourth annual commencement exercises of the Agnes Scott academy will begin Thursday evening, May 18th, at 8:30, with a cantata, "The Sea Dream," in the college chapel, produced by the graduating class of 1911. The commencement exercises will be held in the chapel Friday afternoon at 4:30. An address will be delivered by Dr. W. L. Lingie, of Atlanta, who will tender the diplomas to the nine girl graduates.

Since the academy became separated from the college, it has enjoyed much success as a preparatory institution, not only for the main school, but for other colleges also, and many girls have gone from the local academy to prominent eastern and northern colleges.

Barbecue at Mount Rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mason, of Atlanta, who are spending the spring and summer at Mount Rest, the country home of Mrs. Mason's mother, Mrs. S. C. Venable, have as their guest Mr. Fred Mason, of New York and the late of Pines. In his honor Mr. and Mrs. Mason will give a barbecue at Stone Mountain Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, returning on the evening train. Others will go in their machines, the road from here to the mountain being one of the best in this section.

The Georgia barbecue is an old institution, but there are kinds and kinds of barbecues, and it was at the home of Mrs. Venable at Stone Mountain that the barbecue was first adapted to meet the demands of the social function when ladies, as well as gentlemen, attended. The delicious barbecue repast is served under the trees near the Venable home, hidden among flowers and foliage and one of the most beautiful country homes in the south.

It is situated at the foot of Stone Mountain, and a view of the mountain is commanded from every part of the home and the surrounding grounds. While Mr. and Mrs. Mason have invited a number of their younger friends to meet their brother, Mr. Mason, the distinguished guests of the occasion will be the "Butterflies," that group of pioneer ladies who, while they discuss the growth and beauty of Atlanta today, remember the city at the time when a three-story building on Whitehall street was looked upon as a marvel of progress.

Supper and Social.

A supper and social will be given at the Universalist church, on East Harris street, near Peachtree, Thursday at 7 o'clock, under the auspices of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the church. A nominal charge will be made to cover expenses. Supper will be served at 7 o'clock, and will be followed by an informal social evening. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public.

Col. and Mrs. Payson in Colorado.

Colonel and Mrs. Francis Payson, who were stationed in Atlanta last year, Colonel Payson, of the United States department of the Gulf, are now at Alpine Inn, Mount Love, Colo., their young daughter, Miss Alice Payson, is in the Sacred Heart convent near that place. Colonel Payson has retired from the army, the resignation to take place this month. The family will remain at Mount Love until the first of June.

DAILY FASHION HINTS

A PRETTY GOWN FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

By Marie Montaigne.
The model shown in this illustration is one that could be most effectively used in silks, satins, velvings and nets. In this case the gown is intended for a young girl, and is cut short and made of white marquisette, embroidered heavily in Delft blue. Raised white and pale blue embroidery mingle with the Delft just enough to accentuate the design.

The prettiest feature about this frock is the way in which the sleeves and overskirt open on the side, and are caught together in their lower portions by long lace cord loops and buttons. A braided design worked in a Greek key pattern decorates the open borders of sleeve and overskirt, and the latter is gathered at the belt and also to the top of a sort of hobble band across the back. Both skirt and overskirt are quite full and allow plenty of freedom for the lively movements of young girls, and also for dancing.

It is possible to trim the open edges of sleeves and overskirt, and to form self-lower blouse portion and skirt trimming band of one of the prettiest borders that come with bordered gowns in silks, linens, velvings and chiffons. Then, too, white embroidery, purchased by the yard, would make an attractive decoration, and would be an economy if the dress was intended for a girl whose wardrobe was scant. All white dresses are always economical because their coloring can always be changed by means of ribbons and underslips, and they can readily be laundered. One girl, who seemed to attire herself in a constant variety of pretty gowns, said that she only paid 5 cents a yard for paper cambric for her colored slips, and that she kept a lot of good sashes and bodice ribbons on hand.

break in the busy day's work. Miss Theodosia Wales, traveling student secretary for the association of the girl states, was the speaker this week, and gave St. Paul's prescription for the cure of the worry habit, as found in the Epistle to the Philippians.

Daughters of 1776.

A delightful little play, entitled, "The Daughters of 1776," will be given by the S. L. S. P. Club of the Y. W. C. A. in the association gymnasium, Saturday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock. These entertainments given by the club are always very attractive, and a good attendance is looked for. The price of tickets is only 25 cents, the proceeds to help pay the pledge made by this club to the building fund.

Rose-Afton.

Mr. Franklin Rose and Mrs. M. J. Afton were married last night at Fort McPherson, at the home of the bride's father, Richard Bond. The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. R. Bell. Mr. Rose is one of the seven retired post commissary sergeants now living. The couple left for Tampa, Fla., and other points in that state.

Mrs. Byers' Portrait.

The portrait in oils of the late Mrs. J. L. Byers, one of Atlanta's most prominent and beloved women, has just been completed by Miss Adelaide Everhart, and may be viewed by her friends for a few days at the Samuel G. Walker studio, on North Pryor street, where it is to be framed. The painting holds the two-fold interest of value as a likeness and as a work of art. It is the beautiful picture of an old lady, and it is the lifelike portrait of Mrs. Byers.

The face is in profile, and the strong, clear-cut features and the well-set features are well posed and well drawn. The wavy white hair is a particularly fine piece of detail work, as is the misty lace jabot and an incident which is suggested rather than drawn in the badge of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which organization Mrs. Byers was a leading member in her city and state. The tone of the picture, its light, is mellow instead of subdued, so that the face glows softly rather than shines from the canvas; but the best part of the picture is Mrs. Byers' expression. Her mouth has all the firmness that characterized the woman, but it has all the sweet benevolence, too. Her eyes, which were illumined by the splendid intellect behind them and humanized by a warm appreciation of humor are slight, and the placidity which marked the whole countenance reigns over the picture.

It is the property of her son, Mr. Anthony S. Byers.

Mrs. Miller's Reception.

A beautiful entertainment yesterday was the afternoon reception given by Mrs. Richard Elliott Miller, when several hundred ladies were assembled to meet Miss Suzanne Spalding, whose marriage to Mr. William Schroeder will be an interesting event of June 1. The reception was the first suggession of hospitality in Mrs. Miller's new home on Piedmont avenue, and the charm of artistic finish and furnishing was enhanced by a decoration in flowers and foliage plants which was just as artistic, the decorative color plan of each room merging into the color plan of the surroundings.

Mrs. Miller, the guest of honor, and a group of young women who will be Miss Spalding's bridesmaids, stood at the far end of the long drawing room, and pink roses were appropriate there in the midst of a prevailing ivory and rose color. A few graceful palms, just enough to give tone to the decorations without crowding the effect, were placed with taste, and the receiving group themselves completed the pretty picture.

Mrs. Miller's becoming gown was of pink satin, veiled with pink chiffon cloth, elaborately embroidered, and finished with rose point lace. Miss Spalding was lovely in white crepe de chine, trimmed with princess lace and a becoming touch of coral color. Miss Cobble Vaughn wore a lace gown over white satin, with a finish of pearl embroidery. Miss Isabel Kuhr wore white marquisette, elaborately hand embroidered in blue. Miss Martha Francis wore white Olga crepe, trimmed with white satin and lace.

The reception hall was decorated with palms, and in the library and den wild azales, red honeysuckles and red rambler roses harmonized with the soft, rich color scheme.

The porch overlooking the park was made into an outdoor parlor with foliage plants and cool porch furniture.

and punch was served there from a table garlanded with smilax, the bowl hung with fruits.

In the dining room, which is paneled in oak and a deep yellow, the decorations were of white and yellow.

The table centerpiece, on a Venetian lace cover, was a bridal bouquet of pale yellow roses showered with valley lilies, and small silver vases at intervals were filled with lilies. The silver candlesticks and the silver caskets were looped together with valley lily ribbon, and the candles were white roses color. A few graceful palms, just enough to give tone to the decorations without crowding the effect, were placed with taste, and the receiving group themselves completed the pretty picture.

U. D. C. Medals.

The meeting of the Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C., yesterday was one of the more than ordinary interest, and the feature of it was the presentation of the medals which had been offered Atlanta schools for the best essays on phases of the war between the states.

Miss Cora Brown, chairman of the contest committee, made an interesting address on the importance of the study of history. Superintendent Vailton, of the public schools, made appropriate remarks in awarding the prizes, commenting on the necessity for accuracy in history and the part the Daughters are taking in preserving Confederate records and encouraging the study of Confederate history.

and Father Rapier, of Marietta College, spoke in an interesting vein.

The awards were made as follows: The McCarty medal was presented to Richard Battle, of Marietta College; the A. McD. Wilson medal went to Miss Dora Heyman, of Crow street school, eighth grade; the Atlanta chapter medal was won by Miss Frances Elizabeth Reid, of Washington Seminary; the books offered by Mrs. Connally (the Life of Governor Joseph E. Brown) were presented to Miss Virginia Polhill, of Edgewood avenue school, and Miss Adgate Ellis, of Woodberry school.

Miss Hengst sang delightfully, and the large audience enjoyed a social half hour afterwards.

To Miss Sperry.

A beautiful dinner party of Tuesday evening was that given by Dr. and Mrs. Thornwell Jacobs to Miss Sperry, of Nashville.

To Mrs. McFeely.

Mrs. Frank Boland entertained yesterday at a delightful bridge party in honor of Mrs. McFeely, of Pittsburgh. Quantities of sweetmeats were used most artistically in all of the rooms. Mrs. Boland received her guests wearing a white lingerie gown trimmed in Irish lace.

The first prize, a set of sherry glasses, was won by Mrs. Edgar Paulin. The consolation, a hat pin, was awarded Mrs. Evelyn Harris, and the guest of honor was presented a set of parrot glasses.

Eight friends were invited to meet the guest of honor.

THIEF SECURES $40, AND OVERLOOKS $500

A thief last night successfully made off with $40 in money, the property of Mrs. Earl Harris, of 55 Currier street, only to overlook in his haste a bill fold nearby, which contained a prize of $500.

According to the story which reached the police station through the report of Call Officers Johnson and McWilliams, who made an investigation, the negro entered through a rear window into a bed room, where he commenced his search. The noise of his moving about alarmed Mrs. Harris, in an adjoining room, and she started to investigate. As she entered the room, the man grabbed her purse and card case and made a flying exit through the window.

Martin Fined $1,000.

Rome, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—After a trial consuming the better part of two days, Will Martin was fined $1,000 by Recorder Yancy for having intoxicants on hand for illegal sale. Several months ago Martin's houseboat was raided by the police and several barrels of beer were confiscated. He was convicted and sentenced. The case was carried to the superior court, and Judge Maddox granted a new trial, which was had today with the above result.

A TOUR THROUGH WONDERFUL WEST; INSTRUCTIVE, LUXURIOUS TRIP

Eight thousand miles in the most luxurious and up-to-date train that can be put together, twenty-nine days of American sightseeing where the real sights are—

That is, in brief, the story of the Seaboard's 1911 American tour—a tour surpassing in the excellence of its selection and the careful detail of its arrangement any trip of the kind heretofore devised.

Think of the particular place, object or nature-wonder in the great west and northwest you would most like to see, and you will find it specified as a stopping or visiting point on this most attractive and interesting summer tour that has yet been planned.

The man who said there is no royal road to learning would have qualified his statement had he been acquainted with the pleasures of twentieth century travel.

For the Seaboard has arranged to supply that very royal road, insofar as is concerned knowledge of the great western section of the United States.

It is a common criticism that too many people travel abroad without any knowledge of their own country; but whether they propose to make a foreign trip or not, everyone should know something of the country he lives in, should get it first hand.

It is this OPPORTUNITY, in its greatest possible extent, under the most favorable auspices and circumstances and at a minimum cost, which the Seaboard proposes to supply between June 9 and July 7, next.

EVERYBODY WANTS TO SEE

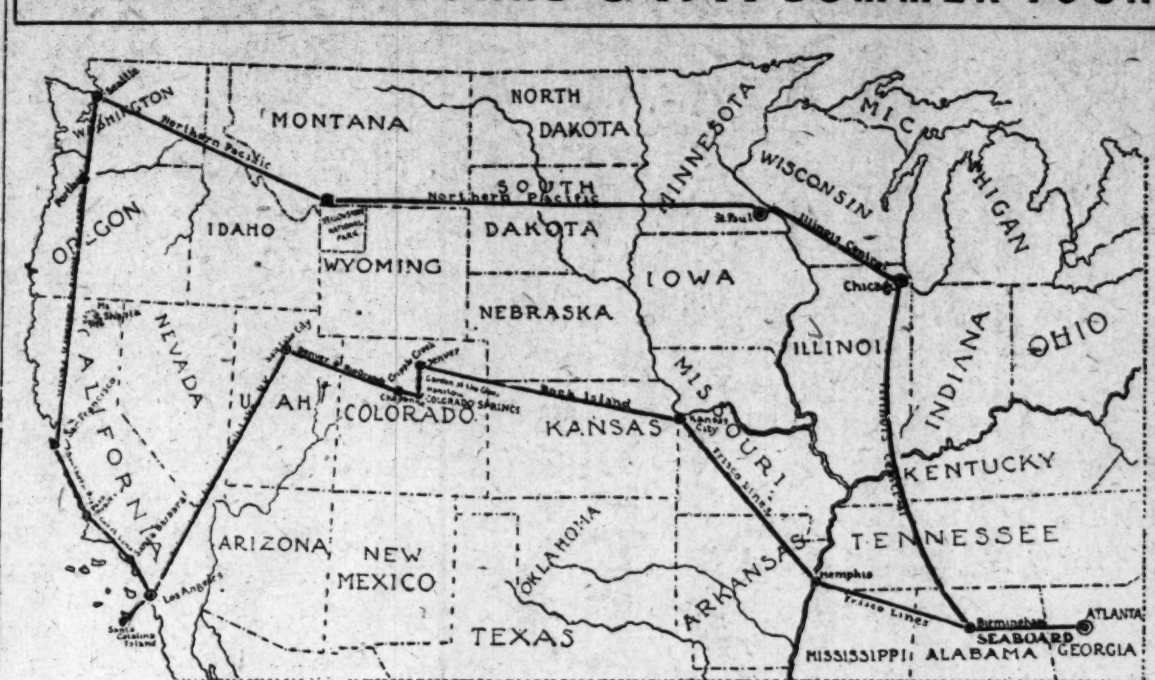

FAMOUS YELLOWSTONE PARK

One of the first things the American traveler in his own land thinks of and desires to see is the famous Yellowstone National Park, with its many marvelous natural wonders. This tour has been particularly designed to meet this desire, including as it does a six days' trip through the park with a day's stop at each of its five magnificent hotels, all located with special view to proximity to some of the park's foremost natural marvels.

But this is anticipating. Sketched briefly, this trip proposes to take the tourist through 8,000 miles of the most attractive country in the United States. Every minute will be replete with interest, and, as in the kaleidoscope, there will be something new at every turn.

Leaving Atlanta at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 9, the party, in luxurious Pullmans, will make a straight shoot to Denver, where, in this remarkable western city, sightseeing will begin. A day in Denver will be followed by two days in Colorado Springs, a far-famed resort, with side trips to Manitou, Garden of the Gods, Cheyenne Canyons, foot of Pike's Peak and Cripple Creek.

ROUTE OF SEABOARD'S 1911 SUMMER TOUR

This map shows the route and visiting points of the Seaboard Air Line railway's 1911 summer tour, an 8,000-mile, 29-day trip, covering every interesting feature of the great western section of the United States, at a total cost for all expenses of $300, excepting only hotel bill in San Francisco.

Then to Salt Lake City, with its Mormon temples and atmosphere wholly unlike anything known in the east. Next, Los Angeles for two days, with side trips to beautiful Catalina island and other points; then on to Santa Barbara and Paso Robles, thus including all the beauties of southern California. Four days in San Francisco may be well spent in seeing the wonders of this city in such pursuits as the traveler may desire. Portland and Seattle come next, each for a day's visit, and then Yellowstone Park. Following the six days spent in the park the train will go direct to St. Paul for a day, Chicago for another day and then—home.

THIS MAGNIFICENT TRIP PLANNED AT LOW COST

if you should make it alone, or, even with a small party; calculate railroad fare, Pullman, dining car, hotel expense, stage coach and incidentals, and you will find that a marvelously low price has been made by the Seaboard for this splendid tour.

You pay $300 for your ticket from Atlanta and, with a single exception, that covers every necessary expense of the entire tour, including railroad fare, Pullman sleeping cars, dining car service on the train, side trips, sightseeing—trips, automobile rides, stage coach through Yellowstone Park and all hotel accommodations excepting the four days spent in San Francisco, for which the Seaboard will be glad to arrange at such price as a member of the party desires to pay. Where two persons occupy a double berth on the sleeper the price of the trip will be $25 less, or from Atlanta $275.

This tour will be personally conducted by Mr. Dave W. Morrah, traveling passenger agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway, who will attend to the execution of every detail, render any assistance in his power to members of the party, and whose wide experience in conducting these tours furnishes assurance that nothing will be overlooked that may tend to the comfort, convenience and pleasure of every member of the party.

Thus the trip will be made not only a thoroughly safe, but a delightful one in every respect for ladies and children, to whom every possible attention will be shown and whose every need will be given attention.

The train provided for this tour will consist of the highest class standard Pullman sleeping cars and the best obtainable dining car service will be provided. Only the foremost and best hotels at the points visited will be patronized.

There will be some pretty cool weather experienced in Yellowstone Park and members of the party will do well to prepare for it with medium weight wraps; elsewhere ordinary summer clothing will answer every purpose.

Only a limited number can be taken on this tour, and as applications will be booked in the order in which they are received, it will be well to have them in as early as possible.

Any further information may be secured from and applications for reservation should be addressed to

SOUTHERN WOMEN WILL ENJOY GOLF TOURNEY AT EAST LAKE

The golf tournament, in which a group of the most popular women of the south will compete for trophies, will center social interest at East Lake next week, the tournament to begin Monday, May 15, and continue through the week. The southern women have been the last ones to take up golf, and make of it a favored out-of-door pastime; but now that they are learning the joys of the great out-of-doors, there can be no doubt that they have gone out into the open to stay.

Complexions may have to be sacrificed to some extent, but there will come instead a health and vigor and wholesome form of recreation that will keep off many a case of nervous prostration from too much excitement and pleasure out-of-doors.

Walking is not the only form of exercise which a woman should have; but an exercise of the all-round kind, which golf and similar games call for. Mrs. George Harrington (Miss Kathleen Brown) is the inspiration of the forthcoming tournament in Atlanta. She resides at East Lake, and any information pertaining to the tournament may be obtained from her.

Practice games are taking place at East Lake now.

TAG DAY ON SATURDAY; BENEFIT FOR THE BABIES

Tomorrow is Tag day—the day when everybody is supposed to give their mite toward making possible the operation of Atlanta's four day nurseries, which are maintained in that many districts of the city. The nurseries are maintained through the efforts of the Sheltering Arms Society of Atlanta. They give the public the opportunity to contribute in a general way once a year, when groups of ladies stationed in different parts of the city will ask for aid in the movement.

The central committee—Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mrs. Charles Hopkins and Mrs. Bolling Jones—will be stationed at the store of J. E. Hunnicutt & Co., on Peachtree street. The other committee chairmen and their committees will be stationed as follows:

Corner Peachtree and Ivy, Mrs. A. O. Woodward; Majestic hotel, Mrs. Anna Terhune; Aragon hotel, Mrs. James Austin; Candler building, Mrs. A. J. Smith; Piedmont hotel, Mrs. John Cooper; Nunnally's, Peachtree, Mrs. T. H. Martin; English-American building, Mrs. J. O. Parmalee; Nunnally's, Edgewood avenue corner, Mrs. W. A. Graham; Elkin-Watson Drug Co., Mrs. Frank Holland; Schaul & May, Mrs. Lee Jordan; Fourth National Bank building, Mrs. Albert Mills; Kimball house entrance, Mrs. Ada Alexander; Peters building, Mrs. John Lewis; Emery-Stelzer building, Mrs. C. G. Bradt; George Muse & Co., Mrs. J. C. Hunter; Eeely Co., Mrs. W. F. Dykes; Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBois Co., Mrs. Harry D. Winn; J. M. High Co., Mrs. Edwin Johnson; Cole Book Co., Mrs. Daulise I. WHAT WE MAY LEARN FROM THE TYROLESE

This is surely the place to see the Tyrolean peasant in his glory, a sturdy, impulsive, independent people inclined to be very friendly with the stranger, always meeting him with a pleasant word and a smile.

If ever you come to The Tyrol and want to be in style you must wear a "gamsbard" (beard of a chamois) in your cap, or a feather; a "gamsbard" by all means if you can obtain that much-sought-for treasure, but failing in that a feather will do.

No peasant is happy without a feather in his cap; it is a necessary part of his costume. The men wear trousers extending to the knee and loose at the bottom, laced at the side near the bottom and tassels hanging, embroidered in green; leggings of green or green wool, also embroidered in green, commencing just above the knee, leaving the leg bare above and below it; suspenders gaily embroidered in green; loose shirt with turn-down collar and bright tie; loose short coat and a great big silver watch chain with medallions hanging to it. The women wear very full skirts reaching to the ankle and bright scarlet petticoats, over their waist (if they are young) a bright kerchief

ENCOURAGE CHILDREN IN STUDY OF HISTORY

The routine work of the College Park school was delightfully interrupted on Tuesday last when a party of zealous Daughters of the Confederacy, headed by their president, Mrs. E. D. Gray, and accompanied by Professor Joseph T. Derry, an honored confederate veteran, invaded the peaceful confines of the seventh and eighth grades, where they found mustered to receive their advances the smiling pupils of the three higher grades of the school. The only weapons which the invading party carried were a medal and forty-eight essays, which latter represented the efforts of a similar number of earnest pupils, who had a few weeks previous striven so valiantly with brain and pen for the medal which the Robert Edward Lee chapter had offered for the best essay on "Events in Georgia in 1864."

This medal had been tendered the chapter by Mrs. Sillidell Cunningham Whitehead as a memorial to her father, Colonel C. J. L. Cunningham, colonel of the Fifty-seventh Alabama regiment, who did valiant service in the campaigns of that year in Georgia.

Professor Derry, after a most inspiring and instructive address, in which he paid a beautiful tribute to the valor, soldierly integrity of General Hood, delivered the medal to the successful contestant, Miss Mary Frances Gresham.

The unstinted applause of her fellow-students was a graceful and well-merited tribute to the superior attainment of the young lady, who, her teacher stated, has only been absent a few times, each time providentially during her eight years' course, and has received no tardy mark during that time.

Miss Marion Bradley, Miss Margaret Martin and Mr. Rector Dickey were the recipients of the prizes awarded by their teachers for second place. The College Park school has for a number of years been the banner school of Fulton county, and the many excellent essays produced in this contest prove conclusively that Miss Kathleen Mitchell and her excellent corps of assistants do not intend to yield the palm to any other school. Mrs. Louis Stevens is chairman of the medal committee.

folded, neck dressed low and a silver collar band with a big clasp on it; a green felt hat with a feather. On Sundays this hat is replaced by a black satin lined with gilt and from the back are black moire ribbon streamers reaching to the bottom of the dress. Of all the articles of a peasant woman's dress the one in which she takes the most pride is the apron, large and gay, with bright colored flowers often, and tied with long and gorgeous ribbon streamers.

Cover food after a meal; burn or bury all table refuse. Screen all food exposed for sale. Don't forget, if you see flies, their breeding place is in nearby filth. It may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidor. If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies. DOLL PARTIES FOR THE YOUNG GIRLS.

By Mary Mason Wright.

Dolls' parties are always favorites with girls. When sending out invitations to such a party, invite your little daughter's friends to bring their dolls along with them. In one corner of the room a little millinery store can be fitted up. Have on display here dolls' hats made of straw, raffia and crepe paper, and material for trimming, such as ribbon, bits of lace, flowers and feathers. Provide each little "mother" with a pocketbook full of silver money cut out of tin-foil, and with this let her purchase a hat for her doll, and material with which to trim it. When each hat sold throw in a little work-basket provided with pins, needles and thread and a penny thimble. After the hats have all been satisfactorily trimmed, they can be put up for display and votes taken on which of the hats is the prettiest, and which the ugliest.

In the dining room have a small table for the dolls, setting it with dolls' dishes, and have for a centerpiece a tiny vase of flowers. Have on this table small dishes of tiny cakes and candies, and miniature sandwiches. In the center of the table for the little girls have a Jack Horner pie made of crepe paper with red ribbons extending to each girl's plate. At the close of the meal these should be pulled by the guests, disclosing little black dolls dressed in bright colors, and with bright turbans on their heads. For refreshments serve doll-shaped sandwiches—chicken and fruit sandwiches, gingerbread dolls and plain vanilla ice cream, which can be molded in doll-shape if desired. One mother baked tiny china dolls into a plain loaf cake and served a slice of this to each little girl.

MAY RECIPES.

Headache—Sauté—Equal quantities of herring or pickled herring, cold veal or cooked beef. Two hard-boiled eggs to a cupful of each of these. Chop up all of the ingredients together, leaving a small portion of the egg; add oil, vinegar, salt, mustard, or salad dressing. Place in a dish and mark off the top in sections with small strips of cardboard. In another put finely-chopped parsley (green), in another white of egg (white), in another white of egg (white) with beet juice (pink), in another yellow egg (yellow), and in the last papers (dark green). Place a hard-boiled yolk of egg in the center. The cardboard should be removed before serving. Oven Scones.—One pound of flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, one egg, one teaspoonful of baking soda, two teaspoonfuls cream of tartar and some sweet milk. Sift the flour into a basin and rub the butter into it thoroughly. Add the sugar, salt, soda, cream of tartar, currants, egg (well beaten) and enough sweet milk to make a soft dough. Knead lightly, roll out, cut into rounds with a cutter, lay on buttered baking tins, brush over with beaten egg and bake in a hot oven for ten minutes.

Gingerbread.—Three cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking soda, two teaspoonfuls of mixed spices, two eggs, one cupful of molasses, half a cupful of milk, five slices of toast, half a cupful of butter, one cupful of cleaned currants, half a cupful of chopped almonds and half a cupful of chopped citron peel. Sift the flour into a basin and add the mixed spices, soda, almonds, peel and currants. Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the sugar, milk and molasses. Cool and add them with the well-beaten eggs to dry ingredients. Turn into a buttered and floured cake tin and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Beau regard Eggs.—Five hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of milk, five slices of toast, seasoning of salt and pepper. Remove the shells from the eggs, separate the whites from the yolks; chop the white very fine, and then put the yolks through a sieve. Blend butter and flour together in a saucepan over the fire, add the milk and stir until boiling. Add the whites of the eggs and season nicely with salt and pepper. Turn the mixture on a hot platter, pour over the sauce, sprinkle the top with the yolks, reheat and serve hot.

LAWRENCE WAS PRESENT AT CAPTURE OF SUMTER

The press report that General Roger A. Pryor is the sole survivor of either force engaged in the capture of Fort Sumter may be true as to those more prominent and active in that affair, but not true as to all who were under arms on that occasion. Mr. R. DeF. Lawrence was a private in a company ordered to Sullivan's Island to assist, if necessary in preventing the landing of troops from the fleet that brought supplies and reinforcements intended for Fort Sumter, and knows of at least two other members of the same company who are living at this time.—Marietta News.

MISS GIBBIE GAULT

BY
KATE LANGLEY BOSHER

MARY CARY had to grow up. The rest of her story had to be written—and here it is. You remember her childhood days in Yorkburg. Since then she has been living in the West, and we meet her on her return, after several years, in this new story—"Miss Gibbie Gault." Most of the characters are new, and Gibbie Gault herself, who is linked to Mary Cary's destiny, is one woman in a thousand. And Yorkburg, an atmosphere of rose-blossoms and sunshine and romance!

"Mary" Calhoun Will Be Pitted Against Carl Thompson in Today's Game.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED; FIERCE ROOTING SURE

Teams Have Broken Even in Games Played So Far—Both Teams Have Made Changes in Line-Up—Georgia Delegation Arrives at Noon—Game Starts at 3:30.

The great day has arrived. The scheduled game between Tech and Georgia, which the college baseball fans and every other baseball fan in Atlanta have been looking forward to for weeks, will take place today, with a second game on Saturday.

"Mary" Calhoun, who twirled such a brilliant game against the Red and Black nine in Athens last week, applying a coat of white paint to her face, and showing in Athens, the Red and Black nine will be a wiser but sadder bunch of ball players.

Carl Thompson, the star hurler of the Georgia team, will be pitted against Calhoun, and Carl is in great fettle for the game. He has been a hard man for the Jackets to beat, and he promises to deliver a superior game Friday.

Great Game Expected.

That the game will be one worth going miles to see, goes without saying. Both teams will fight as they never fought before, for a victory in the first game will give the team that does win a confidence that nothing else could give.

There is no hope possibly obtainable on who will win the game. No one on this game is worth the paper it is written on. Both teams will play the best brand of ball they know how, and it will mean that the team that gets the most runs will be the one to win the game.

Tech was very much underrated by everyone just previous to her appearance in Athens, and the score that she threw into the Red and Black nine has not been forgotten by her associates.

The Georgia delegation, headed by their band, and with several hundred students and fans, will arrive shortly before noon and make their presence known immediately upon their arrival. They are coming prepared to let loose at their own devices and attempt to rattle Calhoun and his associates.

But the Tech rooters will be on hand in large numbers, too, with their band blasting forth its near harmony throughout the game. The Jackets' rooters have been working as hard as their team, and their cheers are sure to inspire much confidence into Captain Holland and his men.

Some Changes.

Both teams will make some changes in their line-ups, and both expect to be stronger as the result of the changes.

Brannen will take Bowden's place at first base for the Red and Black. This change will be made as Bowden is a left-hand batter, and Calhoun being a southpaw, Coach Anderson does not figure that Bowden will be very effective.

For Tech, Edgar Montague will get back into the line-up, and will be pitted against Calhoun, having mended sufficiently to make the change assured. This means that either Burress, Pound or F. Montague, with the chances favoring the former, will be at short field.

Who will umpire the game has not been definitely decided upon as yet, though there is a possibility of one of the new Atlanta twirlers, Phil Frock—handling the indicator, if they arrive in time.

The street car company has promised to furnish a good service to and from the grounds, with cars running regularly throughout the game.

The following is the probable batting order of the two teams:

Clymer Sets New Mark.

Otis Clymer, of the Minneapolis team, has set a new record for the American Association by hitting safely for twenty-three consecutive games. He has not fallen down since the opening of the season. The best performance previously was made by Friel, who, in 1906, had one or more bingles in 23 straight games. Hobe Friel, of the Minneapolis team, has already gone 11 consecutive games.

William A. Foxen, the southpaw hurler, secured by the Crackers from the Chicago Cubs, arrived in Atlanta Thursday afternoon, had a talk with President Heisman, signed his contract and is now a full-fledged member of the Crackers.

Foxen will leave Atlanta this afternoon, arriving in Montgomery tonight, and will be on hand for Saturday's game if Jordan needs him.

Foxen is a strapping fellow, a feet tall and weighing about 190. He says he is in fine condition, perfectly satisfied to come to Atlanta and willing and ready to jump in and work.

Don't any of you fans get the impression that Foxen is one of those old fellows. He's not. He is but 25 years old and believes that he will have such a good season down here that he will make Chance sorry he turned him loose Friday.

Go to it, Bill. We all welcome you with open arms. We are right here.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Dodgers 10, Cardinals 1.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 11.—Brooklyn batted Steele and Geyer hard today, while Berger was well-nigh invincible, and the home team won its first game of the St. Louis series by 10 to 1. Dauter had a home run, a triple and two singles in four times up.

Score: . . . 000 000 100—3 R. H. E. St. Louis. . . . 001 042 03X—10 5 2

Batteries—Steele, Geyer and Bresnahan; Berger and Berger. Time 1:45. Umpires, Klem and Doyle.

Phillies 10, Pirates 10.

Philadelphia, May 11.—In defeating Pittsburgh, 10 to 10 today, Philadelphia broke the season's scoring record in the National League. All hit hard by the home club, while Alexander was effective until the ninth inning, when the visitors scored seven runs on two batters by McCarthy and Miller, two errors and four bases on balls.

Score: . . . 100 000 207—10 5 1 Philadelphia. . . . 002 810 05X—10 5 1

Batteries—Camnitz, Smith and Gibson; Simon, Alexander and Doolin. Time 2:20. Umpires, Finnegan and Rigler.

Cubs 9, Giants 3.

New York, May 11.—The Chicago Cubs, after having lost five games in a row, turned on the Giants and defeated them, 9 to 3, today in a contest featured by the pitching of Harry McIntyre.

Score by innings: . . . R. H. E. Chicago. . . . 001 130 130—9 15 1 New York. . . . 110 000 010—3 8 1

Batteries—McIntyre and Kling and Archer; Crandall, Raymond, Marquard and Myers and Wilson. Time 1:55. Umpires, Brennan and O'Day.

Reds 13, Doves 10.

Boston, May 11.—Cincinnati won a slugger game today, 13 to 10. The locals got three home runs, but weak pitching lost the contest.

Score: . . . 001 013 031—10 12 4 Cincinnati. . . . 209 402 041—13 14 2

Batteries—McGuffie, Perdue, Brown and Graham; McDermott, McLean and Time 2:31. Umpires, Johnston and Eason.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Yanks 6, Tigers 0.

Detroit, May 11.—Detroit was helpless in the hands of Russell Ford today. They failed to reach second base and New York captured the second game of the series, 6 to 0. It was a pitchers' battle, the sixth, and dumb playing thereafter aided New York in making runs.

Score by innings: . . . R. H. E. New York. . . . 000 001 212—6 10 0 Detroit. . . . 000 000 000—0 2 1

Batteries—Ford and Sweeney; Lively and Henry. Time 2:05. Umpires, Connolly and Egan.

White Sox 20, Senators 6.

Chicago, May 11.—Chicago batted Groom all over the field today, and had little difficulty burying the visitors in an avalanche of hits, winning the game by a score of 20 to 6. The support behind Groom was also very ragged.

Score by innings: . . . R. H. E. Chicago. . . . 002 140 76X—20 20 3 Washington. . . . 111 100 200—6 10 6

Batteries—White and Sweeney; Groom and Henry. Time 2:10. Umpires, Perrine and Sheridan.

Athletics 4, Browns 2.

St. Louis, May 11.—Philadelphia scored three runs in the ninth and defeated the locals again today, 4 to 2. Sensational fielding by Shotton and Hoffman and Strunk's home run were the features.

Score by innings: . . . R. H. E. Philadelphia. . . . 000 000 013—4 11 0 St. Louis. . . . 000 000 200—2 2 1

Batteries—Coombs, Krause and Livingston; Hootch and Powell and Clarke. Time 1:50. Umpires, Dineen and O'Loughlin.

Red Sox 7, Naps 6.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 11.—Cleveland and Boston fought one of the hardest diamond battles ever seen here today, the visitors winning after ten innings, 7 to 6. Pinch hitters were used by the whole lot, and the result in seven pitchers being used.

Score: . . . 110 000 121—7 13 4 Cleveland. . . . 200 011 380—6 11 2

Batteries—Blandford, Kaler, Harkness, Yingling and Smith and Land; Wood, Clifton, Hall and Carrigan. Umpires—Evans and Mullin. Time 2:35.

Babies 6, Indians 5.

Albany, Ga., May 11.—With Savannah four runs ahead, Albany made five hits and five runs in the ninth inning today, winning a game that had seemed hopelessly lost. Up to the ninth inning, the box for Savannah proved very effective, giving up only 5 scattered hits. Duggeby, for Albany, was touched up for 12, but the terrific batting rally of his team mates in the ninth saved him from defeat.

Score by innings: . . . R. H. E. Albany. . . . 010 000 008—6 11 3 Savannah. . . . 002 201 000—5 12 1

Batteries—Duggeby and Kunkle; Robertson and Leary. Time 1:45. Umpire Irwin.

Electric 2, Gulls 0.

Columbus, Ga., May 11.—A triple and a home-run in the seventh won the game for Columbus this afternoon. Up to that inning Columbus had not scored, but Fisher, who had pitched well, popped out to Fisher. Pratt smashed the ball for two bags and Daley came across; Smith laid the ball down to Sykes, but Fisher was lumbered over to first, dropped the throw. Smith was safe and Pratt scored from the key. Sykes and Smith crossed the plate and went on to the play. Smith pitched wild, Elwert was struck and when he attempted to steal second Miller tried to get Sykes out at second, but Corbin reached second after the ball was caught. Watson also popped out, but Elwert tried to get Sykes out at second after the catch and Corbin took the opportunity and came home. Nothing more was doing for either club.

HEIRESS TO 6 MILLIONS SHE IS STILL A TEACHER

With $20,000 in her possession; twice that amount having been contributed to various charitable institutions, and $6,000,000 awaiting her within the period of five years, Miss Lillian Swygert prefers to remain in the dull and commonplace school house at the Atlanta Woolen Mills, where she comes in contact with scores of children whose life and career she is daily watching.

Miss Swygert inherited $6,000,000 last November, and although she was delighted, she breathed not a word of her good fortune, until it leaked out in some unknown manner.

Miss Swygert was visited by a Constitution reporter last night. Her home is a plain, unpretentious one, little differing from other in the vicinity. Seated at a piano, playing in a very artistic manner, while several small children were crowded around her, sat Miss Swygert, the possessor of thousands and millions.

She looked up as if annoyed by the intruder's presence. But later, with a smile on her face, asked to greet him.

"She was asked to corroborate the rumors of her inheritance of millions."

"Why, does the public know it this soon?"

"They most assuredly do," answered the reporter.

"Well, some naughty little birds have been at work again," she merrily laughed.

She was not aware of her sudden notoriety, and when asked in regard to her inheritance and life work, she consented to talk.

Tells of Her Fortune.

It was learned that Miss Swygert had come to Atlanta from Columbia, S. C., nearly six years ago. She had always been possessed of a fond for helping the poor, and her errand in Atlanta was to render assistance in the mill districts.

WILL OBSERVE MOTHERS' DAY

Mother's day will be observed in Atlanta with appropriate services on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the First Baptist church, James L. Mayson making the speaking of the occasion.

In regard to the observance of the day, the Atlanta Baraca and Philathea Union has furnished the following statement:

"It will be observed by every loyal son and daughter the world around."

"It is not who we are or what we possess, mother stands the prime support of all. She is the nucleus of the home; the bedrock of the nation. Mother is the beginning, and the further we place her in the distance, the closer we place ourselves to the end."

"Mother, in her office, holds the key of the soul, and she it is who stamps the coin of character, and makes the being who would be a savage, but for her gentle care, a Christian man."

"A mother's love is deep, strong and deathless; it will penetrate the blackest of sin, her child and she, the spark that quickeneth into the flame of repentance and salvation."

"How often in our brief career have we shed the repentant tear for sins and follies loved too well, and in the waywardness of youth, how better thoughts have been given to us, for error and love for truth, amid sweet remembrances of mother."

"Take a guiding star, she pilots her children through the shoals and breakers of life to the success that only honesty and virtue can enjoy."

"It matters not how successful you are in your folly, how well you evade the tares of your sowing, some day the prayers of your Christlike mother will strike in upon your soul, and shatter the mask sin has woven about it. Your life will be laid bare; you will read the truth, and clamor with remorseless haste to repair a wasted life."

"For our fathers, we all have love and profound reverence; for our mothers, we simply have love—the love that in its simplicity embraces everything, and it is for that simple love that we celebrate."

"A good lady, several years ago, at her home in Philadelphia, realizing that a multitude of minds thinking of the same thing at the same time impels a force of reverence that would be in keeping with a mother's guarding and winning love, originated the idea of observing a day each year as Mother's day—a day when every son and daughter could think of mother, honor her honor, keep her precepts, and turn her love by being obedient unto her."

"The idea was taken up by religious societies, benevolent institutions, social leaders, governors of states, and is fast becoming an international day of observance."

"The Atlanta Baraca and Philathea Union are preparing an appropriate program for the day."

"Hon. James L. Mayson has been secured to address the afternoon mass meeting. Some exceptionally fine music will be part of the program."

"Complete arrangements have not been made yet, and will be announced later."

"That evening, for our mothers, we wish to pay a tribute to their mother on that day to wear a white flower, the emblem of her pure and endless love."

DR. MARX SPEAKS ON WORLD PEACE

Just about the time the last waiter served the last dinner, for the conclusion of the elaborate banquet of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association at the Phipps hotel, last night, one thought it was time for the speech-making, and started to applaud. That was the signal for Dr. Marx to scrape his chair around to hear what Dr. David Marx, the first speaker on the program, had to say about "World Peace."

"Man Must Be a Man," said Dr. Marx. "I wish to say this to you: I believe that commerce has been one of the greatest factors working for the establishment of peace. One man cannot trade with another man unless he is honest and peaceable. There was not one of the great founders of religion who did not cry out for peace. The day is coming, the day is here, when church draws near to church, and all that is demanded of a man is that he be a man."

Fred Mason, of New York, one of the best known men in the world, addressed his audience to a number of amusing anecdotes, and finished with the assurance that the day of peace was not seeking the elimination of the grocery jobber, but realized that he afforded the best of all successful means of distributing.

Colonel F. J. Paxton, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, had much to say about the subject, which was well received. J. H. McLaughlin, president of the Associated Grocers, also spoke, and the assembly adjourned at the many fair faces gathered at the tables in his address on "Woman."

that within one brief day the little children would be lying awake at night howling for ice water, while older citizens fought hand to hand with mosquitoes.

In spite of Thursday's torrid temperature, Mr. von Herrmann offers some slight relief to the suffering by that fair weather is indicated for Atlanta Friday, to be followed, probably, by some cloudiness and slightly cooler weather at the close of the week.

Let us hope so; let us hope so. But there are few who will gainsay that the least of our troubles is summer is once more in our suffering midst.

ATLANTA PARTY GRAZES DEATH

Savannah, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—While being taken to a banquet of the United Commercial Travelers at Thunderbolt tonight, Mrs. C. B. Lewis, wife of the grand senior counselor of the United Commercial Travelers of Atlanta, was run into by another automobile on the grand prize course and ditched.

As the automobile ran into the ditch it struck a tree which tore off the body of the machine and deposited it in the rear of the building.

Mrs. Lewis and the other occupants of the machine were unhurt except a severe shaking up, but their escape from serious injury is considered a miraculous.

Three More Tigers Raided.

Waycross, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—Sheriff D. W. Pittman has added three more to his list of suspects, and is now holding Will Cooper, Jim Davis and Will O'Neil, all negroes, for trial in the superior court on charges of violating the prohibition law.

AN IDEAL VACATION.

As a rule, summer in the city is dull and uninteresting, and the thoughts turn naturally to the superior court on charges of violating the prohibition law.

An ideal combination of vacation opportunities is offered by the Riverside Naval Academy and Summer Camp, located among the foothills of the Blue Ridge, near Lake Warner.

Students may live either in tents or in the elegant buildings of the academy, as they prefer. The academy and camp are located about two miles from the city, but near the electric car line, affording advantages of the city as well as the country.

Students enjoy all outdoor sports and receive special drill under competent naval officers in boating and elementary naval tactics, as well as swimming. Each day is filled with activity which is both pleasant and instructive.

All academic work is elective, and is pursued under the tutelage of the principal.

SLOW PROGRESS BY METHODISTS

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 11.—The joint commission on federation of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Protestant and Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session here to consider the report of the subcommittee on plan of federation, is making progress slowly.

Three joint sessions have been held, and the fourth was held this morning, when the discussion was resumed.

The first item of the report suggests a change of name, and recommended two names, Methodist Episcopal Church in America, and the Methodist Church. This item was passed over informally to be taken up later on, but it seemed that this has been the fate of each item of recommendation, and not a single one beyond a few immaterial headings have been adopted.

One important item on the definition of the creeds brought forth a lot of discussion, when the old arguments raised at the Birmingham conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, were revived, but the matter was finally laid aside for further consideration.

It seems that no one of the commissioners is willing to become an obstacle in the way of the proposed federation and hence the belief that the report in its present form with a few minor amendments will be adopted as a tentative plan and referred to the general conferences of the churches for final disposition.

Rev. Jones Much Improved.

Rev. Rob. Jones, well-known evangelist, who recently conducted a revival meeting at St. Paul's Methodist church in Atlanta, of which Rev. J. R. King is pastor, has just been invited to go to Montana to take an active part in the prohibition campaign, and has only been prevented from doing so by stress of engagements in Georgia. Mr. Jones is now holding a series of meetings at Blakely, Ga.

AT PIMLICO.

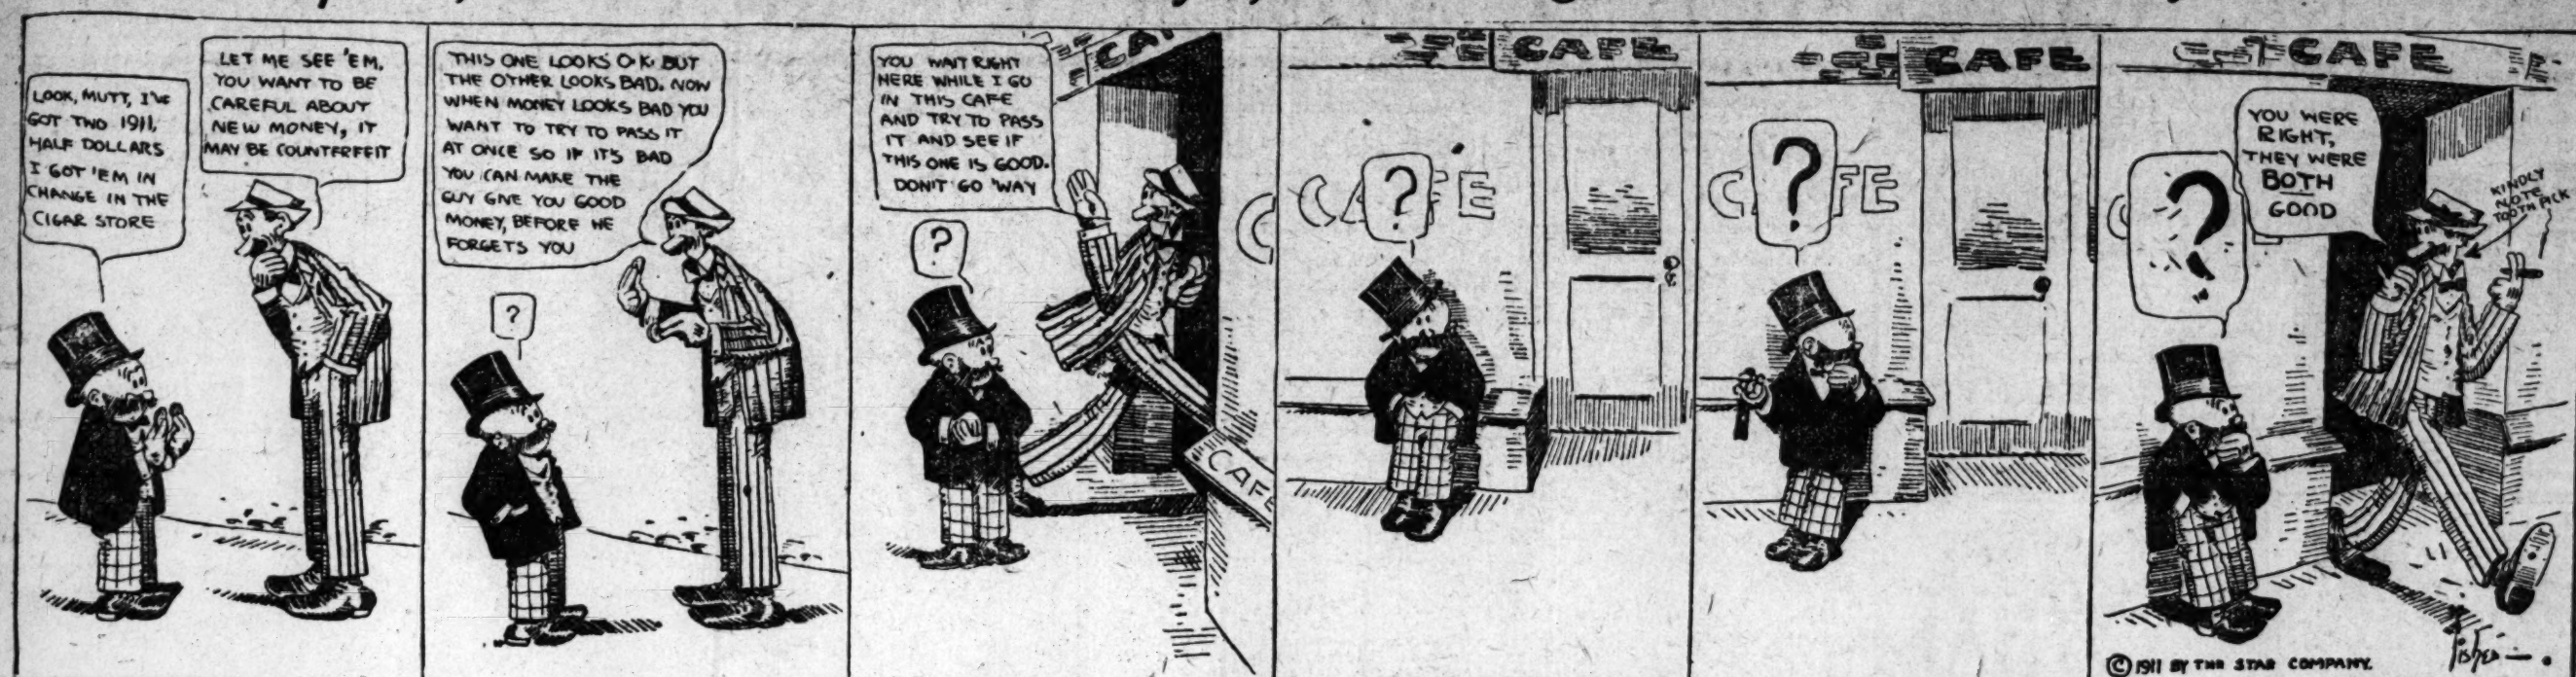

Baltimore, May 11.—King James made his bow to the public today by breaking the track record for 6 furlongs, covering the distance in 1:12 flat.

The Greater Baltimore steelphease was won by Tom Cat, an outsider. The brewers' handicap was won in a drive by Perry Johnson from Leah, the favorite.

Several bookmakers were permanently ruled out of the track today, and further entries for the Maryland Jockey club track from R. V. Martin were refused because of the race of Van Den yesterday.

By Joseph Warden.

Fireless brooders are a success or failure, according as they are operated. Under favorable conditions they give most satisfactory results. The chicks grown in them are stronger and healthier, because they have natural conditions. Many have an impression that in a fireless brooder the chicks get along with little or no heat. This is a mistake. To do well a baby chick must have a temperature of at least 95, or 100 degrees is better, during its rest period, the first thirty to thirty-six hours.

There are many patterns of fireless brooders, some being complicated affairs, others very simple. The one here described is simple in construction and is satisfactory.

The brooder is made from a cracker box, the dimensions being 20 inches long, 14 inches wide and 9 inches deep. The sides of the box is not material, though it is best not to have it too large, as the chickens will not be able to warm it. It is also, for winter use, desirable to have a box made of fairly heavy lumber. For the purpose, a soap box, or one made of half-inch lumber is better than a higher box. The cover is fastened on with leather hinges, as is also the opening in front at the bottom. The front board is hinged to turn down, allowing the chicks to leave or enter the brooder. A half-inch hole is bored in each back corner for an intake of fresh air, and three half-inch holes are bored in each end and five in the back, three-fourths of an inch from the top, for ventilation when the cover is closed. A slot is nailed on each end inside the box, 4 inches from the bottom, for the hovers to rest on. The sides of the box, for winter use, are padded with cut hay or straw. A place of burial 8 inches wide and long enough to reach around the box is secured. Three pieces of lath are sawed, two the width of a lath shorter than the widths of the box, and one the length of the box. The edge of the lath is placed under these laths and the laths nailed to the bottom of the box. The padding material is then put in and the loose end of the burlap drawn up and tacked to the side of the box, even with the cleats on which the hovers rest. The frame of the hovers is made of five pieces of lath. Two of the pieces are the length of the box inside, and cut to rest easily on the cleats. The three short pieces are one-half inch shorter than the long pieces, one at each end and one in the middle and nailed, thus forming a frame. The hovers blanket is tacked to this frame so that it will sag in the center about 2 1/2 inches, the long pieces of the frame being next to the blanket. This leaves the center short piece on top for a handle to lift the hovers by. A curtain 3 1/2 inches wide is tacked to the front edge of the frame and covers the opening in the box when the door is open. This curtain is slit every 3 or 4 inches.

The frame being narrower than the box, leaves a half-inch space for air to pass under the house, the house is shoved on the cleats to either side of the box. In cold weather the opening is covered and a cushion or pillow placed over the house to retain heat. This is made of a heavy layer of cotton, feathers, cut straw or other suitable material, between two laying cheese cloth. After the chicks are three weeks old, or when the mild weather, no cushion is needed. Cover the bottom of the brooder with a newspaper, so it will not become soiled, and over this place a thick layer of chaff, cut hay or straw. As the chicks grow this material is taken out until there is but a slight covering over the floor to take up droppings.

There is little trouble with newly-hatched chicks to teach them to run to the house when cold. They are inclined to huddle up in a sunny place outside the brooder, and this should be prevented. It is necessary to teach them that the only place to get warm is under the house.

Fifty chicks can be placed in one brooder for the first few days, but usually twenty-five or thirty are as many as should be kept together. While there is little danger at first from crowding, they will crowd as soon as the chicks become stronger, and they will certainly do better in small flocks.

It is necessary to have a suitable coop or house in which to operate a fireless brooder, and in this house it should be possible to give outdoor conditions while protecting the chicks from wind or storm. A piano box, or an extra large dry goods box can, with a little work, soon be converted into a colony house in which the brooder can be kept, and when chicks are large enough, brooder can be removed and the house used for a roosting place until chicks are ready for market or to be housed in the winter. The house should be placed so as to have both sun and shade sometimes during the day, and should, for the first month or two, have a small one-inch mesh poultry wire run so that the chicks can take exercise, fresh air and sunshine on all good days. After they are six weeks old, the yard can be removed, allowing the chicks to run at will. They will always come home to the brooder, except, of course, Mr. Hawk gets them.

Exchange.

H. M. Henry, Oak Hill, Ala.—1. What is the origin of the Plymouth Rock?

2. By what sort of breeding can I form a new species?

3. What is the difference between the Andover and the Leghorns?

4. Whence comes the Rhode Island Red?

Answer—The real origin of the Buff Plymouth Rocks, away back in the fifties, was made by crossing a China cock with a hen, a cross between the fawn-colored Dorking, the Great Malay and the W. Indian. But compared with the original, the Barred Rock of today is vastly different.

The first Rocks in color were, cocks usually red or speckled and the pullets darkish brown.

2. You must first determine what you are after before establishing a breed. Whether a large or small breed, setter or non-setter. It takes from six to ten years to establish a breed.

3. None, except in color. Both belong to the Mediterranean class, and have same shape. Plumage beetle green, the feathers tipped with white.

4. The Reds are an American production, being made up of the games, Asiatics and Mediterraneans.

20 ACRES WITH BUNGALOW.

BETWEEN Decatur and East Lake, one mile south of Decatur and six blocks from end of car line and East Lake. There is a wide street on three sides of this property. It is absolutely one of the prettiest tracts of land around Atlanta. One-third of it is in a beautiful oak grove. The whole twenty acres is almost perfectly level, and certainly looks good. There is a small six-room bungalow on one corner of the tract. Now, the value of this land alone, the way other property around it is selling, is from $1,000 to $1,200 an acre, but we are authorized to sell this for a good deal less than the above price, and say nothing about the improvements, which are worth nearly $4,000. You will have to see this to appreciate it. Suitable for a home or subdivision. Terms.

ON THE ROSWELL ROAD, just 5 miles from Buckhead, we have 53 acres, with splendid frontage, for $150 acre. Now we only have a few more days in which to sell this, and the owner says that he hopes we won't sell it, because he wants to raise the price as soon as our contract terminates. If you want it at the present price, say so quickly. If you want to pay more, just wait a few days to buy. It certainly will never be cheaper.

LOOK at 24 Argard avenue and see what you are willing to pay for it. We have instructions from the owner to sell, and we are going to sell. If we can't get one price we will take another. We are asking $3,500 for it, but make us an offer. It is a dandy little 6-room cottage, with all conveniences, in the best neighborhood, and was built for a home.

B. M. GRANT & CO.

EMPIRE BUILDING.

GEO. P. MOORE.

REAL ESTATE AND RENTING AGENT,
9 AUBURN AVE.

NEAR INTERSECTION OF WHITEHALL AND PETERS streets, we offer 71x100 feet, adjoining Smith & Simpson, and fronting railroad sidetrack. With Whitehall street property selling at $250.00 to $300.00 in this same section, it is reasonable to believe that there's a nice profit in this piece at $7,000—$1,000 cash.

$7,750—CLOSE IN ON HOUSTON STREET. HERE'S SOMETHING you should pick up mighty quick—a lot 45x150, in a stone's throw of the Candler building. It will double your money, sure.

Whitehall and Forsyth Intersection

YOU KNOW that people passing the intersection of WHITEHALL and FORSYTH come from Hapeville, College Park, East Point, Fort McPherson and the First, Second, Seventh and Tenth wards, with a total population of 45,479, but does that mean anything to you? Stop and think! Do you know that's more than the entire city of Savannah, more than any city on the Atlantic Seaboard South of Richmond? You know that the value of real estate is gauged by the number of people passing it. What will it be worth at this point in five years? The crowd is growing every day. We can tell you what it is worth now.
